Ask architect check furnace

Milton Council called on the architect on the town hall renovation project to inspect immediately the heating system at the town hall, indicating its general dissatisfaction.

Last week Council was critical of the gas company, complaining of exorbitant bills.

Mayor S. G. Childs reported the firm had promised to have a representative check the burners. Councillor Johnson suggested the architect designed the project and should be able to come up with a solution.

Both Councillors Brian Best and Charles Johnson reported visits from representatives of the gas company expressing concern over the problem. Both had been advised they would be willing to investigate any local complaints.
