

4-H CORN CLUB
By David Austin
The first meeting of the Halton Corn Club was held at the Agricultural Office on Thursday evening, with club president Carl Middlebrook presiding.
Leaders Ken Murdock and William Wilson were introduced to us by Geoff Taylor, after which he spoke on the shortage of food, comparing Canada with India. A quiz on weeds, conducted by the Assistant Agricultural Representative proved educational.
Our leaders gave some tips on good seed beds, and the proper planting of corn, after which we received our corn for planting.

HALTON 4-H SHEEP CLUB
By Lyle Stokes
The regular meeting of the Halton 4-H Sheep Club took place at the farm of Albert Hunter, Burlington, on April 24. The club judged a class of market lambs and a class of ewes, using Mr. Hunter's Polled and Dorset Horned Sheep. Club leader Joe Willmott gave the official placings and reasons.
The club then moved to the house where club leaders Joe Willmott and Lloyd Stokes discussed wool preparation and sheep and lamb marketing.
Refreshments were served by Mrs. Albert Hunter and her daughters, during an oral discussion on sheep problems, prior to the closing of the meeting.

HALTON 4-H FORAGE CLUB
By John Nurse
Donald McClure, president of the Halton 4-H Forage Club, opened the first meeting with the 4-H pledge. The meeting was held on Tuesday, April 25, in the Agricultural Office, Milton. Due to the fact that club secretary Verna Thompson was absent (representing Ontario 4-H-ers at the National 4-H Conference, Washington, D.C.), Ted Brown was chosen to act as secretary for the evening.
Ernie Alexander, one of the 4-H Club leaders, spoke on forage and grain production, following which a short quiz was given. Club leader Al Brownridge led the members in a discussion and judging of a class of barley.

FLAGS FLYING and garland hung, the old county court house, picturesque at any time, never looked so good as it does now. The Centennial bunting draped over the door makes for a pleasant switch from the Centennial flags in the area. (Staff Photo)
