DR. M. B. DYMOND, Ontario's Minister of Health, officially opened the original Milton District Hospital in 1959. He'll be back again Saturday to open the addition.

Your community hospital ... a pictorial review

THE NURSERY is a hive of activity at the hospital, where most Milton and district families first welcome the "new arrivals".

FIRST PATIENT to use Milton District Hospital when it opened back in 1959 was Miss Elizabeth Hannant, an 89-year-old nurse who had been hospitalized at Dr. C. K. Stevenson's private hospital on Martin St. — the forerunner of today's modern community hospital. She transferred from the private hospital to the new one December 14, 1959.

AND THE FIRST BABY to enter the world at Milton District Hospital was Wanda Ramsbottom, who arrived December 18, 1959, a five lb., 10 oz. daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ramsbottom of Kingsleigh Court. Mrs. Ramsbottom shows off her new daughter while obstetrics nurses and Dr. G. E. Syer greet the new arrival.

MRS. I. VERRALL is a busy woman around Milton District Hospital, in her capacity as director of nursing. The growth of Milton and district and the increased demands for hospital care have placed a tremendous strain on the present hospital facilities, and the new addition which opens this Saturday has been planned for over two years. (Staff Photo)

PHYSIOTHERAPY services at Milton District Hospital have mushroomed and the busy department is constantly in need of more space or new equipment. With the new second floor addition, physio has been moved upstairs to bright and spacious quarters. (Staff Photos)
