HAPPINESS for Kevin Crooks is a ride on the merry-go-round and some candy floss. Kevin was one of thousands of youngsters visiting Milton Fair last weekend.

SOME MODERN ART turned up at Saturday's fair when children tried the spinning easels and gobs of gooey paint. Marlene Schultz, David Krantz and Patsy May show theirs off.

O.S.D. STUDENTS Maurice Robitaille, Connie Dignan and Jimmy Friars had good luck on the midway Friday (as their proud possessions show) when many of the school children visited the fair. Below, four happy riders zoom by in a topsy turvy car. (Staff Photos)

Generation '68 . . .

(Continued from Page B6) talk to when you have a problem. They may be restrictive, but if you think about it a while, it's for your own good.

On her Comtemporaries: Canada will become a major power within the next century, but to do it we'll need prime ministers and parliaments who can get the attention of the people and make them want to get involved in government. Nationalism and a sense of confidence will also be beneficial to a stronger country. The U.S. will probably fall apart before too long, since there's so much civil fighting instead of togetherness.

On her Comtemporaries: This generation has seen the mistakes made by former groups and will have the sense to improve on their methods. Usually Canadians have learned from past mistakes.
