

Queen's Park Report

by jim snow m.l.a.

During the summer recess I had a great many opportunities to travel throughout the riding and meet with many of you personally. My family enjoyed very much attending the Milton, Georgetown and Acton fairs this year, and meeting so many of our friends and constituents.

Last Friday afternoon it was my pleasure to have the opportunity of speaking to Ontario Masons Relations Council, and to present the Council's award of excellence for the most outstanding masonry building constructed last year. The Masons Relations Council is made up of representatives of the architectural profession, the clay-brick manufacturers association, and the brick masons union.

On Monday also, Mayor Brian Best of Milton came to Queen's Park and I accompanied him in a meeting with the Hon. Darcy McKeough, Minister of Municipal Affairs, Minister of the Legislature when Mayor Best presented to the Minister for his consideration and approval, the new official plan of the town of Milton.

On Tuesday, Oct. 14 the Hon. J. R. Simonett, Minister of Public Works made a statement to the House advising that during the session of the Legislature it is his intention to introduce legislation which will ensure that facilities for handicapped persons are provided in all public buildings.

Mr. Simonett stated that in Supplement No. 7 of the National Building Code, published in 1965, minimum standards for the handicapped in maintaining entrances and exits for public buildings, including standards for washroom facilities, hallways, doorways and so on, and it is his Department's intention that legislation will provide similar facilities for the handicapped in all public buildings in Ontario.

As examples, Mr. Simonett mentioned facilities that have been provided in the Ontario Science Centre, the Frost Building, the Macdonald, Hepburn and Ferguson Blocks in the new Queen's Park Development, and the Ontario Pavilion in Expo '67. Facilities have also been provided for the handicapped in the legislative buildings, and the Whitney Block, and are being incorporated into the design for the new Ontario Place at the C.N.E. grounds.

Mr. Simonett also suggested that such facilities should be provided wherever possible in new public housing developments built by the Ontario Housing Corporation. These facilities are being provided as a result of meetings held over the past two years with officials of the Government and officials of the Canadian Paraplegic Association in regards to the problems of the handicapped residents using the facilities of public buildings.

Handicapped persons wish to lead as normal a life as possible. Very often they are prevented from doing so, whether they are seeking employment, education, or looking for recreation, due to their inability to obtain access to a particular building. We hope that the Government's proposal will provide handicapped persons with additional facilities to enjoy a full life.

The Hon. Darcy McKeough, Minister of Municipal Affairs in a statement to the Legislature announced new zoning requirements for land in the vicinity of Toronto International Airport affected by aircraft noise.

Mr. McKeough's statement was accompanied by a map showing the areas of land surrounding the airport affected by aircraft noise which includes an area of 2,427 acres in north east Oakville. This acreage is at the extremities of the noise-cone for aircraft departing to the west on runways 23 left, and 23 right, of the International Airport.

Six noise sensitivity zones have been established with limitations on development ranging from no limitations for Zone 1, to very heavy limitations for Zone 6. The 2,427 acres affected in North Oakville lies all within Zone 2. Under the regulations for Zone 2, no restrictions are placed on apartments, commercial, hotel, motel, office buildings, or industrial and ancillary uses. The regulation states that in this area for single-family dwellings and town-houses that this is a marginal zone and noise may start to become a problem.

It is recommended that developers be made aware of this fact, and that they be required to so inform prospective tenants or purchasers of residential units. In addition it is suggested that development should not proceed until an analysis of the noise environment is made and it is established that noise control features, if any, should be included in the building design. It is recommended that schools, hospitals, libraries, churches, community centres, theatres and auditoriums should not be constructed in this area unless a detailed analysis of noise reduction requirements for the specific development in question is made, and needed noise control features are included in the building design. The only land use expressly prohibited in this area would be for an outdoor amphitheatre.

Tickets selling well for Red Wings game

Tickets went on sale Friday for the exhibition hockey game to be played Friday Nov. 7 between the local Junior Merchants squad and the Red Wings from Hamilton. The game is an annual event, although it was missed last year when scheduling could not be arranged. This year's receipts will go to the Ted Hood Memorial Fund, established recently in recognition of the former Junior hockey player's contribution to events in and around the town.

Over 3,000 tickets have been issued around the town and up to press time it was indicated that several hundred had already been sold. One of the members of the club had sold close to 50 on Friday night alone.

A lunch will be served to the participants following the game at the Legion hall and it was also noted the players would be available for autographs prior to the game which gets under way at 8.30.

Total attendance at last week's International Plowing Match was around 73,000, lower than expected. Rainy weather was blamed for the drop in crowd.

Q. Should I stop watching television to save my eyes?

A. No. Your eyes were made to use. The old belief that you can save your eyes by not using them is false. Resting your eyes may give you more comfortable vision but it will not save them.
