Estate taxes, white paper explained to ladies, guests

The regular meeting of Campbellville Women's Institute was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Cramp on Wednesday evening Feb. 4. The president, Mrs. R. Elliot opened the meeting followed by the reports of secretary and treasurer. An article was read on the amount of phosphate in detergents as determined by a University of Toronto professor.

It was decided that as many members and other interested people should write to both Federal and Ontario Government members urging publication of a list of the detergents with an accompanying analysis of phosphate content and also seek legislation to compel substitution for phosphates in detergents.

Mrs. Lloyd Stokes was named as the delegate to the officers' conference and the fee will be sent at once.

The Campbellville Institute has been asked to sponsor the November Birthday party at Halton Centennial Manor. Members were happy to comply.

The music festival committee reported festivals will be held this spring at Acton April 27 and the concert in Milton High School April 30. A much broader program is planned.

Final arrangements were made for the Ida Burns Enterprises program on Gracious Living including interior decoration, new kitchen ideas, table setting and hostess tips, to be held in St. David's Presbyterian Church school room on March 26, at 8 p.m. There will be a hot and cold buffet at the close of the program and many draws will be made for the lucky ticket holders. The ticket committee is Mrs. Stewart Cramp, Miss Katherine McPhedran and Mrs. Alex Moore.

The program on public relations was chaired by the P.R.O. convener Mrs. A. Moore. The roll call, "Why does Canada attract people from other lands?" was answered by many different ideas—space to live one's own life and own property, the beauty of the country and climate, opportunity to give their children an education, freedom of speech, thought and religion. Mrs. Moore gave a short paper on public relations showing that we are all constantly being a good or bad public relations agent for our society, our church, our country. Mrs. Murray Mahon read the Motto, "A woman wrapped up in herself, makes a very small parcel," prepared by Mrs. Len Andrews.

A.C.W. elects new executive for year

On Wednesday Feb. 11 the Afternoon A.C.W. of St. George Church met at the home of Mrs. Döbel.

Conditions governing the competition should be obtained before submitting manuscripts. Contact: Provincial Chapter of Ontario, IODE, 168 Jackson St. West, Hamilton 10, Ontario.

Weigh it well

BY ELEANOR COULTER

We shouldn't be too disappointed that the scientists have learned the moon isn't made of green cheese—we have plenty of earth cheese that's delicious. For example, the blue cheese by whatever name it is known, manages to tantalize the taste buds as no other can. I came across a recipe for a dressing that is superb with fresh leaf lettuce or other favorite greens. It's been tested by the Publisher who says that with its built-in penicillin it should thwart the flu germs. I hope you will try it.

Blend together:
1 pint mayonnaise or salad dressing,
½ pound blue cheese,
½ cup milk,
½ cup French dressing.

If you want to make it richer, substitute some of the milk for cream and if you want it more colorful use more French dressing. No matter what proportions you use, the cheese will be the dominating flavor. M-m-m! Good.

Winter time is a good time to plan your summer holidays. There is a new paperback (Bantam) by Sallie Ann Robbins that displays a green maple leaf on its cover with the title See Canada Free. It's a complete guide to free travel fun and free vacation pleasures for you and your family. Dad just has to pay for the gas and you're all set. But Mrs. Robbins gives a very comprehensive coverage of things to see from Aklavik to Corner Brook and all the interesting and historical places in between, mainly in museums, libraries and national and provincial parks. There's a gold mine of information in this little paperback for just one dollar bill.

Sometimes I despair at the sight of my cluttered dining room table. But those letters will never get answered if I put them away out of sight, and the negatives of the photos I promised Auntie must wait until the last film arrives for there may be some good ones in that, too. The baby's knitted suit can't be finished until I go to town for matching wool, and someone forgot to take home a pile of books I was lending them. Gradually the papers from which I want to clip various items will be carried to the basement but alas, others seem always to take their place. Newspapers and magazines are so full of articles we need to read carefully.

Then, in the midst of my guilty feelings about being an untidy housekeeper, I remember the red tapestry covered table in Mother's sitting room, away back there when my nose just topped it and the clutter was pushed back so little fingers wouldn't disturb. The knitting was kept handy so a few spare minutes made a round or two on the grey sock possible; writing materials were there for Mother's periodic letter to an old school chum, and story books that made bedtime something to look forward to. Books, too, for any member of the family who wanted to keep them there, had their rightful place on that table alongside a bowl of polished Northern Spies for crunching.

Cluttered tables aren't so bad! They hold symbols of many interests, or wouldn't life lose its flavor?

MR. AND MRS. JOHN C. KRANENDONK
She is the former Ruth Brouse.

Kranendonk-Brouse

Baskets of pink and white mums decorated St. Paul's United church, Milton, for the marriage of Ruth Margaret Brouse of Kilbride and John C. Kranendonk of R. R. 4, Acton. The Rev. C. Hainer officiated at the double-ring candlelight ceremony at six o'clock on November 8.

The bride, a secretary at the University of Guelph, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Brouse of Kilbride, and the groom, who is with the Bell Telephone company, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kranendonk.

Mrs. Harold Magee played the organ and Mrs. K. O. Foster was soloist.

The bride wore a floor length A-line gown of lagoda with Chantilly lace bodice and sleeves and lace cathedral train. A three-tiered elbow length veil was held by a headpiece of petals surrounded by rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses with sprigs of white heather from Scotland. She wore her great grandmother's amethyst necklace.

She was given in marriage by her father.

Matron of honor was Lorraine Baynton, a friend, and the bridesmaids her twin sister Rosslyn and sister Carleen Brouse. They wore deep pink floor length velvet gowns trimmed with small flowers on the cuffs and waist. They wore velvet rosebuds in their hair and carried crescent shaped bouquets of white carnations.

Groomsmen was Michael Mattocks of Burlington and the ushers were Chris Kranendonk, brother of the groom, Bill Brouse, brother of the bride, and Lowell Watson, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride's uncle, Ronald MacFarlane, Gananogue, piped the bride and groom out of the church. The evening reception and dance were held in the U.A.W. hall, Milton. The bride's mother received wearing a cranberry ensemble with crepe dress and lace coat, feather hat, silver accessories and a corsage of white gardenias and stephanotis.

The groom's mother assisted wearing emerald green lace with brown and gold accessories, feather hat and corsage of gold sweetheart roses.

The wedding cake was made by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. Stan Price, Campbellville.

The couple left on a honeymoon in Florida, the bride wearing a chocolate brown suit trimmed in gold, feather hat, camel accessories and gold sweetheart roses.

They are living at 300 Speedvale Ave. E., Guelph. Guests were present at the wedding from Kitchener, Ottawa, Toronto, Burlington, Hespeler, Branchton, Guelph, Belleville, Gananogue, Fergus, St. Marys, Waterdown, Port Credit, Elora, Acton and Milton.

A personal shower was held in Toronto by Miss Mary Dunnett, Miss Linda Lowell and Miss Linda Purvis.

Former friends whom the bride had worked with in Toronto gave a miscellaneous shower in Kilbride.

The Dublin community presented the bride and groom with a lovely mantel clock and deep fryer.

The bride's mother entertained at a trousseau tea on November 2 and the groom's mother entertained after the wedding rehearsal.

Nurses at course on team teaching

Miss Grace J. Leavey, Director of Nurses of Halton County and Mrs. Frances Jamieson, Staff Nurse, Georgetown, attended a three week conference in Toronto on Team Nursing Development, co-sponsored by the Provincial Department of Health and the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario. This project was a combination of Hospital personnel, teachers from schools of nursing or training centres, public health nurses from public health units and visiting nurse agencies.

Team nursing represents a philosophy of nursing and individual and family care as well as a method of organization. It is a means whereby a group (team) of professional and non-professional personnel work together co-operatively to provide individualized family centre care. It encourages each member of the team to utilize their potential to the fullest. Leadership, communication, co-operation and participation are essential to the effective and successful functioning of the team.

"I personally am looking forward to our Demonstration area for our aim is to provide optimum care through family centred program by prevention, protection, education, research and resources. Team nursing development will take time to implement but we are lucky to have the support of our agency and Board of Health, who have the foresight to see the potential of such a development for
