MacArthur, McMillan . .

one person had been elected from each ward. He thanked supporters and said he was looking forward to the new year. Allan Ackman acknowledged the voters had spoken strongly in a democratic way. He suggested the interest was because they had had a vigorous council that didn't always agree. The present councillor thanked fellow members for support of legislation he asked to be brought forward, for the endorsement of his proposed Founder's Day and for the work he had been able to do with pits and quarries and other committees.

Will scream

He called for township business to be conducted in the open and stressed that "If I hear of any closed meetings I'll scream blue murder". He also called for respect for the planning board and the work it has done.

Gus Goutouski wryly observed there was no question that democracy was "alive and kicking in the township". He predicted that in two years "Goutouski will be out there, still punching, and asking for your vote."

Final results in the voting were received at the hall about 11.30. Edon Mills voters had been first to report about 9 p.m. and the trends reflected there continued unchanged throughout the evening with the exception of a shift between council voting for the top three.
