Six Acton rinks also saw action. They were skipped by Mel

Jordan, Walter Dubois, Chester Anderson, Bill Toth, Mel Blow and Andrew McKenzie.

The 16 teams in the finals battled it out Saturday at Milton curling club. Sixty-four teams were in the tourney when they started out.

Piped in
For the last draw of the day local piper Gail Brown led the eight rinks onto the ice with sponsor Jim Kennedy of Oakville in the parade.

At a banquet bonspiel chairman Dennis Fowley of Milton said he hoped the bonspiel would continue as an annual event and had good reason to believe it would. He claimed although Kennedy denied any such knowledge Rowley quoted Kennedy as saying he would sponsor it until he won it.

Kennedy took part in the event but his rink was eliminated before the final day. A banquet for the teams taking part in the final day's activities and their wives was held and prizes were presented at the club.
