The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Caves of 256 First St., Milton and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Buehler of Campbellville. The dress was fashioned with three-quarter length bell sleeves, a jewel neckline and bow at the front of the dress. A crown headpiece held her full length veil and she carried a white prayer book with red sweetheart roses, amethyst and ribbon streamers. The bride also wore a circular pendant, left to her by a close aunt.

Three attendants

The three attendants were dressed alike in floor length gowns of white polyester over green, with bell sleeves. The girls wore contrasting ribbons in their hair and carried bouquets of yellow daisies with white streamers.

MAKING THEIR HOME IN STATEN ISLAND, New York U.S.A., Mr. and Mrs. Roger Johnson were married in Nassagaweya Presbyterian Church, Haltonville on May 1. The bride is the former Betty Marie Allison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allison of Moffat.

Motto "A gem cannot be polished without friction", drawing attention to the careers of several notable leaders who despite or because of opposition and uphill endeavors became valuable members of society. In this way also we have arrived, at our present state of progress. Mrs. Lloyd Stokes read a witty little poem on how "History repeats itself".

Miss McPhedran conducted a discussion on the furnishing's and utensils of a home in the early 1900's and brought to mind the many improvements the homemaker enjoys today, from the cool well or cellar to the refrigerator, the open fireplace to the electric range, the pail of well water and dipper to the convenient tap with hot and cold water, from the washboard and tub to the automatic washer and dryer and many more.

"Good Old Days"
Turning to the old fashioned parlor members recalled the joys of cleaning the oil lamps, the prickly horsehair sofa, the rag rugs, hair wreaths and the clutter of nick-nacks on the what not.

Members enjoyed a contest on items of historical interest such as: the oldest science, how to preserve apples, making cider vinegar, cleaning cutlery, etc. The roll call was answered by members with a piece of heirloom jewellery and giving its history.

The regular business meeting included several reports of recent conferences including the attendance in Oakville of the TB dinner and address by Dr. Cameron Gray. He stressed the many respiratory diseases being treated today at clinics; allergies and effects of pollution in working areas.

Reclaim bottles
Mrs. Len Andrews asked the institute to sponsor a program for reclaiming glass bottles of all kinds. Support was given and a committee formed to work out details.

The Institute display for Milton Fair was discussed and promises for the articles mentioned were given by the members.

After the meeting was closed with the Royal Anthem and the Institute grace, a social hour was enjoyed over coffee cups, served by the committee in charge.
