Second place in cross country

By Donna-Jane Byers
Good morning! Let's start with the results from our super Cross Country squad. In competition this week at White Oaks our team placed an overall second. The midget team placed fourth, the junior team ran to a first place finish, the senior team placed third and our ladies' team clutched first.

I sent Cathie Camping out to collect the names of the participants and she returned with only the boys' names, mumbling some feeble excuse. Cathie has been sent back to finish off the girls' list and will have it completed by next week. Here, then, are the gentlemen cross country competitors: Midget John Royston, Ken Bachman, Ross Carmichael, Gina Caviacholi, Steve Dynes. Junior Brent Hall, Bill Thompson, Murray Greer, Donald Mayor, Gerald Linde and extra Paul Feldkamp. Senior Bernie Newman, Ken Kriyik, Robert Kelly, Paul Legere.

Intromurally speaking, we have our big track and field meet coming up Monday Oct. 25 (two months until Christmas). In the male department the boys will have about 15 events that can enter including the triple jump, the pole vault and the 3,000 metre which is an open race. All other events will be judged according to age classification — midget, junior and senior.

Open events
The gals have 10 events to choose from including the 400 and 800 metre which are open. Each participant may enter a maximum of four events, but no more than three of these may be running events. Stay tuned to next week's program for star performers and their scores.

In basketball action this week against Lord Elgin our ladies' team fared pretty well. The midgets lost 13-24 but our junior and senior squads were both victorious with scores of 35-16 and 26-17 respectively.

Wee, as promised, it's bat, a bird badminton time again. The badminton club opens their doors on Friday afternoons from 3.30 to 5 p.m. Membership is 50c and you must bring your own racket.

Anxious crowd
Robinson held another successful dance Friday Oct. 22 with the three man super sound of Edward Bear. Students were so eager to get in to move and groove (thanks Mike) that they had started to line the doors before 8 p.m.

The GAA have a really big show coming up as well. The Sadie is Nov. 5 and the group will be Tractor. The theme this year is the Wild West. So gals, grab that guy before someone else does.

Ships School is sponsoring another trip! Mr. and Mrs. Baird are again the chaperones and this trip is scheduled for the summer of '72. The group will be travelling to Eastern Europe for the small price of $675. Some of the hot spots include Innsbruck, LENINGRAD, Moscow, Kiev, W. Berlin and possibly East Berlin. Remember... "In everyone's life, there is a summer of '72". See Mr. or Mrs. Baird for further details.

UP-TIGHT
1. Look out Boston Bruins... MMR hockey team is opening their training camp. You're beat!
2. Congratulations Pollution Club for those nifty posters... in the Resource Centre, and your campaign to keep Robinson and Burlington garbage free.

—Next election is Milton's municipal election, slated for Monday, Dec. 6.

School news
Pumpkins on sale

Pumpkins for Hallowe'en have been on sale at Holy Rosary School this week, the sale courtesy of teacher J. Sanford. The large, orange pumpkins range in size and price and have been selling like wildfire in the school.

Students at Holy Rosary are completing Canadian Battery skill tests this week. In the field of athletics a girls' and boys' volleyball team will soon get underway at the school. The final members of the basketball team are also being selected this week.

A Hallowe'en school dance will be held at Martin St. School tomorrow (Thursday) after school. Students are reminded to bring their dancin' shoes. Report cards will be given out at the school on Nov. 15. Better buckle down to those studies these next few weeks!

Parent-teacher interviews will be held at Martin St. from Nov. 15 to 26, after report cards have been given out. Interviews will be set up prior to this date. The Halton County cross country meet will be held at Fairview Public School today (Wednesday). Runners have been practising for the meet. Martin St. won the North Halton meet at Fairview last week.

Although leaf blight may lower corn yields, it apparently has no effect on the food value of the crop. Tests in the U.S. showed that blighted corn didn't affect pig gains or feed efficiency.

flower girl a gold locket, gifts of the bride. The bride wore an opal necklace, a gift from the groom.
Groom's attendants
Groomsman was Gordon Timbers of Milton, friend of the groom. Ushers were John and Harv Haller of Campbellville, brothers of the groom; David Royce of Lindsay, brother of the bride and John Feenstra of Hornby, brother-in-law of the bride. Ring bearer was Jeff Feenstra of Hornby, nephew of the bride.

An evening reception followed the wedding in the basement of St. Stephen's Church, with approximately 75 guests attending. Pink and white streamers and bells decorated the hall.
Guests attended from Liverpool, England, New York, Guelph, Oakville, Milton, Campbellville, Hornby, Georgetown, Streetsville and Burlington.
The bride's mother received guests in a figured dress of sea green crimplene trimmed with white fur. She wore black accessories and a white orchid corsage.
The groom's mother assisted in a deep purple crimplene dress with white accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Honeymoon in U.S.
For a honeymoon trip to New York State the bride donned an orange and yellow printed crimplene midi skirt with matching waist vest and brown accessories. Her corsage was of soft orange carnations and orange ribbon.
The groom wore a grey knit jumpsuit and navy shirt for the trip south. The bride made her own going away outfit, the groom's outfit and the flowergirl's dress.
The bride was honored at several showers prior to her marriage. A trousseau tea was held at the bride's home on Sept. 12. Mrs. W. Haller and Mrs. J. Feenstra the bride's sister, poured tea. Mrs. V. May helped serve refreshments.
Miss Louis Haller and Miss Donna Litchenburger held a miscellaneous shower for the bride at the groom's home on Aug. 30. Another miscellaneous shower for the bride was held Sept. 2 at the home of Mrs. J. Royce. Hostesses were Mrs. B. Feenstra and Mrs. V. May.
A miscellaneous shower from the church and the community was held at the home of Mrs. J. Bradley on Sept. 8.
A rehearsal party was held at the home of the groom's parents on Sept. 17.

White Oaks

One win to report

By Ed Ford
White Oaks continues in its losing ways. The senior football team was soundly defeated 36-6 by Georgetown. There is really nothing to say about that game, because the score tells it all.

The Junior cats were also defeated by Perdue; 16-6 was the final score in a game which could have gone either way. Not only did they lose the game, but they are now short about 10 players. Quarterback Dave Allen sustained stomach injuries while Tim Gamble, who got the touchdown suffered a concussion. Bill Milford the back-up QB is also out with torn ligaments. Due to the loss coach Wignall suffered, he wasn't in the best of moods and wisely cut two key players at the last practise. Bob Robson and Jack Ashford were the victims of his unsavory savvy and were thusly cut for not doing their spread eagles properly. This now leaves the team in a bad position, no defensive halfbacks, no quarterbacks, no tight end and no halfback. It should be quite easy for Georgetown to clean up when the remains of the team meets them for the semi-finals.

Vicious girls
The Powderpuff team, however, won again as they were the victors over Blakelock 35-0. Unless you could see them play you would never think that Polly is such a vicious creature.

On Friday night Jason performed for the large crowd attending the function. First of all they started out doing their Surf'n Safaris Songs, which of course was a takeoff of the old Beachboys. Then they settled down and did a few originals and a few copied underground music. But the final set was undoubtedly the best.

Good old days
Clad in a white T-shirt the slob with his captain hat, white socks and straight jeans pounded his drums to the tune of Billy Haley and the Comets. Rocky in his purple shirt and black shiny vest strummed along, while The Broad danced in her saddle shoes and floor length dress. Fats sported black cowboy boots over his jeans and a green T-shirt with I Love Mother on it. Big Steve did a great impersonation of the KING of rock and roll, none other than Elvis. And as they played on the whole atmosphere of the school changed to the good old days when hair was worn behind your ears and a silver suit was the thing to wear.

Yearbooks are still on sale for a down payment of $2.50 and the other dollar when you get the book, and yes, student cards are still on sale too.

Pig skin party

Last Wednesday afternoon the junior Milton Mustang galloped into a second place standing in the junior football league, with a dazzling display of come-back football, that downed Blakelock High 26-6. The offensive team broke the game wide open in the second half after only managing a 6-6 half time score. An awesome running game by Steve Brancier and Larry Beaulieu was set up by the crunching blocks thrown by Milton's front line of Marty Cairns, Al Shouten, Gary Heaney, Frank Bill, and John Kelman.

The passing was directed by an accurate Mike Nivens and balls were snatched out of the blue by George Hood, Rick Jubb and Tiny Tom Elliot, Larry Beaulieu and Bob Davis were good for one interception each. For the Juniors "Winning isn't everything" its "the only thing!" The seniors wrapped up the season with the final game against Blakelock Tabbies. Colonel John Hasserfeldt commanded an unusual number of safety touches to keep the opposition at bay. The game, as far as the Blakelock tabbies
