Ratepayers' protests not needed

Withdraw condominium application

A hearing on the rezoning of 40 units and the southerly block Bronte St. lands to allow 254 units 115 units plus 10 single family of three-storey condominiums homes. was withdrawn by the town Now in a "D" zone, the lands Friday morning, when the have to be rezoned to permit developer involved in the hearing medium density occupancy. The request that the development be staged.

Chaingate Developments Ltd. proposed the 254-unit condominium development plus 10 single-family homes on three using vacant blocks of land lying north condominiums, which and south of Heslop Rd. and Anne Blvd., on the east side of Bronte St. The northerly block would contain 99 units, the centre block

WHAT HAVE WE GOT down here? Kilbride

Public School students Bruce Richardson,

Greg Parent, Virginia Van Grootel and Patti

Bester sampled the maple syrup deposits at Rattlesnake Point Conservation Area when total $1,153,660.

county grant.

EYE

grant this year and last year.

Halton County expenditures this year are estimated at $3,478,886—

During the county council meeting Wednesday, Acton Reeve Dr.

Oakville Reeve Allan Masson suggested he would pay $25 of Ac-

The following table shows the apportionment and increases to the

-an increase of 12.1 per cent over last year. Road expenditures will

F. G. Oakes tried unsuccessfully to have a $5,000 grant to Gairlock Gardens in Oakville deleted. He argued the park did not qualify for a ton's $100 share of the grant. Both he and Deputy Reeve Harry Barrett suggested the gardens have as much right to a county grant as the Royal Botanical Gardens. Royal Botanical Gardens received a $20,000 refused to agree to the town's medium density designation was suggested in the town's official

Neighbors object

Homeowners in a wide area surrounding the lands objected to the lands feared would devalue their homes and cause flooding and traffic problems. They banded together recently and formed an association which engaged a lawyer to carry their objections to Friday's OMB hearing.

But their objections weren't necessary after all. About 45 of the homeowners attended block was occuplied.
Friday's hearing but the hearing All at once? was concluded before they were called to voice their objections.

Milton Council's solicitor D. A. McConachie asked OMB chairman Allan Van Every to dismiss the hearing, when Chaingate's solicitor George Ness refused to commit his clients to the town's staging program. The council asked that the southern block be developed they visited the park on Thursday. Public and school tours of both old and modern methods of collecting sap are now being conducted by northern areas share one man.

1,153,660

Municipality

G'town.

conservation employees.—(Staff Photo)

County budget up 12.1% stantially occupied' development could begin on the central block. The northern block was to be held until the central All at once? Mayor Brian Best told The first, and when it is "sub-

Champion after the hearing that the council feared Chaingate might sell the three blocks to different builders. The way the town's agreement with Chaingate was worded, all three builders could have demanded permits for construction of the condominiums at once. Chaingate had earlier agreed to stage the development, Mayor Best said, but the staging was not spelled out in the agreement the firm and the council had signed, so a new one was drawn.

Council is to pay 65 per cent of the cost for a storm sewer that would drain all three blocks of land and the developer would pay the remaining 35 per cent. The town's cost is estimated at close to $150,000.

Council met Thursday on the eve of the hearing and approved a draft of a new agreement which would force the developers to stage the development, from south to north. Chaingate refused to sign it.

10 foot buffer

Solicitor McConachie explained at the outset of the hearing that 18 acres of land were involved. A 10 foot buffer strip of trees would be provided between the condominiums and all

Solicitor Ness told the OMB said. chairman the storm sewer was After a brief recess, when the proposed to be outsized to serve solicitors more than the Chaingate councillors and Chaingate ofproperties. "There was never ficials, Mr. McConachie called any suggestion we could not build for a withdrawal of the imperative the builder proceed said. "That is your privilege, on all three blocks as quickly as accede," replied the OMB possible. "We want to go ahead

Canadian Champion

as quickly as we can," he said. His firm has already agreed to started. help pay the storm sewer costs, but if the town wants to force the development to be staged the company would withdraw agreement to share costs on the conferred with he said, adding it was should be a new application," he chairman, and the hearing ended, about an hour after i sewer, the Chaingate solicitor (Continued on Page Eleven)

Inside today

Home improvement section

Spring is here. If you're planning any improvements to your home this spring, check the third section of today's Champion. It's a special home improvement section with plenty of ideas on how you can carry out home improvements with the assistance of local stores and dealers.

Also in today's Champion:

—Sports, Pages 4 and 5. -Classifieds, 8, 9, 10.

-Minor hockey teams, B1. -Editorials, columns, B2.

-Youth news, B3. -Women's news, B4, B5.

Propose 18 row houses on Bronte St. property

A proposal to construct 18 row houses on the west side of Bronte St. received approval in principle from Milton Planning Board last

The Board was reviewing a proposal submitted by Prezel Construction for land south of Cv Hilson Enterprises, which would require a zoning change to R6. Sewer concern

Members of the planning board expressed concern about the

Total

1,523,303

231,410

141,745

65,485

at cenotaph

Someone with either a streak of mischief or a vein of patriotism made off with the Canadian flag

from the Victoria Park cenotaph, located at Brown and Mary Sts.

Saturday night or early Sunday morning, report Milton Police.

The flag was taken late

3,478,886

Steal flag

,316,994

204,288

1,223,291

municipalities. The cost of a safety construction officer is divided between the five northern municipalities because Oakville and Burlington employ their own men for that function and the five

1,015,482

151,562

70,086

895,478

Safety

1,343

4,050

2,108

1,392

11,622

sewer capacity in the area and Dr. Ivan Hunter suggested the developer should prepare an engineering survey on the system. Chairman Norm Pearce suggested it was the town's responsibility to prepare such a survey, which would take in more than the developer's land.

Members requested the developer delete one unit from his plan, reducing it to 17 so it would more closely conform to side and rear yard requirements.

Seek comments

The proposal is then to be submitted to other municipal agencies for their comments before it is reconsidered.

Board members noted a road expenses are $3,478,886 pattern submitted for 17 acres of industrial land owned by Ken Marshall provided for industries to back onto Highway 401. They observed this could lead to outside storage in the area most visible from the four lane highway, while other industries facing the highway had been required to meet certain standards highway in appearance. The Board also agreed the road pattern should be submitted to the Department of Highways for their comments.

Propose change

A change in zoning from M-1 to M-2 was proposed by Milton Planning Board for the Third Line site of Superior Propane Limited. The site is at the north west corner of the Third Line and the CPR.

The firm noted it wanted to increase its storage capacity at this location, which would mean the increased outside storage of cylinders and tanks. This was not permitted in M-1. Neighboring land was zoned M-2, as was land in Oakville across the road. It was explained the present

Pyrofax Gas plant on Steeles Ave. would be moving to this location when the expansion at the site was completed.

them all at once, if we wanted application altogether. "I think it

May sue town

Afterward, Mr. Ness told The Champion his clients might want to bring a suit against the town for damages. The council had

—District page, B6.

—Hospital annual, B7.

apprehended.

The elk was believed to have been shot Thursday. Frank Timmermans, manager of the Halton Region Conservation Authority's game farm, said he noticed the elk, one of four in the compound, was missing when he checked the area on Friday morning.

Line in North Burlington.

time before they

But more than two people were involved in the incident, according to Staff Sergeant Matt

MacPherson of the Burlington

Police. He indicated charges are pending against other individuals and said it would only be a short

Missing Friday

Particles of hair were found on police charge pair Charges were laid Monday a portion of the six foot fence night by Burlington Police which surrounds the compound, leading Timmermans to believe against two people believed

HRCA elk is shot responsible for the shooting and that the animal had been dragged abducting of a pregnant 500 over the fence by three or four pound elk from the buffalo individuals. compound at Rattlesnake Point The three year old elk was to Conservation Area on Walker's have calved during the first week

Post $200 reward

Over the weekend the Halton Sportsmen's Association, Milton, had posted a $200 reward leading to the arrest and conviction of the people responsible for the elk's death. HSA's past president Paul Coulson said the incident was "a black mark against all hunters."

The Department of Lands and Forests at Hespeler received an anonymous telephone tip giving clues to the identity of the culprits over the weekend.

Burlington Police would not elaborate on how they discovered the individuals involved, except some "information received."

Apparently the animal was butchered by the abductors.

WHILE A SMILING Bob Stanfield looks on in Halton Conservatives at Oakville's T. A. picture form, Halton MPP Jim Snow Blakelock High School last Wednesday. The congratulates the Tories' candidate in the two other men contesting the nomination were next federal election, Terry O'Connor. Bert Hinton of Acton and Jim Muir of Oak-O'Connor won the nomination in two ballots by

ville.—(Staff Photo)

Tories choose Terry O'Connor

gathered at Blakelock High School in Oakville Wednesday to award 31-year-old Terry O'Connor of Oakville the Halton Progressive Conservative federal nomination.

Bert Hinton of Acton dropped out after polling a close third on the first ballot. Oakville insurance salesman Jim Muir gained considerable ground on O'Connor on the second ballot but couldn't overtake the favored O'Connor. O'Connor polled 246 votes, just ballot. Muir edged Hinton by 12 votes on the first ballot and picked up a lot of Hinton supporters on the second ballot. On the second ballot O'Connor picked up an additional 30 votes, bringing his total to 276 while Muir finished with 219. Enthusiasm

14 short of the required number to poll a clear majority on the first

Three busloads of Acton supporters and two busloads from Erin travelled to the meeting, giving Hinton support

Hinton was piped to the stage by the Lorne Scots.

Crowds of Jim Muir supporters chanted "When our Jim comes marching in, oh when our Jim comes marching in. We know he's gonna be a winner, oh when our Jim comes marching in." O'Connor had less hoopla in his presentation then the other two. Candidates' signs and balloons filled the school auditorium.

Hinton, well known Acton

(Continued in Page Three)

Charges wrongful dismissal

Mrs. Verrall questions hospital board

Two years of controversy over the dismissal of Mrs. R. Verrall, former director of nursing at District Hospital, continued Wednesday at the annual meeting of the hospital board. Mrs. Verrall charged the board with wrongful dismissal, continued to press for reasons she was asked to resign and charged the board had "protected" her right out of her profession. The conflict has been "very damaging to my personal and professional reputation," she told the board and 100 corporation members attending Wednesday's annual. "I wonder why I had to reach such an ignominious end two years in succession."

"I have not yet been given solid and satisfactory reasons" for having to resign her post, she continued, and "I am unable to obtain a position as a registered

Two year fight

The controversy involving Mrs. Verrall begain in February of 1969 when former administrator Dalton McQuaig dismissed her from her post. Suspensions. resignation and threatened walkouts followed, the hospital was greylisted by the nurses' association and McQuaig eventually resigned. Mrs. Verrall was reinstated later that year by the board and a consultant was brought in to review her work during a lengthy probationary period. When the consultant's report was received, Mrs. Verrall was asked to resign.

At Wednesday's meeting director Bruce MacNab launched the subject again, charging the board had done "a complete snow job". He charged the board should tell some "basic truths" and said his work on the board was being "frustrated by the underhand things that are being Very strange"

Mrs. Verrall rose from the audience and asked the board to clarify her position. She said she did not speak at last year's annual meeting because she was under strict orders to say nothing in public. She felt after 26 years as a nurse her forced resignation was "very strange—to this day neither the administrator nor the board have ever given me any reasons why I was asked to

"What have I been accused of?" she asked.

She launched a personal attack on administrator Ronald Woods, noting the board had asked him to assess her work but he hired an outside consultant to do it. Yet he prolonged and delayed her probationary term for what he called "health reasons"

Mrs. Verrall said it was strange he was not qualified to assess her work, yet he was qualified to overrule a medical opinion by three doctors on whether or not she was fit to (Continued on Page Six)

ALL THE IRISHMEN (and all who wish they were) had fun Friday when St. Patrick's Day was observed with all the traditions and blarney that surround the patron saint of Ireland's special day. Mayor Brian and Mrs. Best (O'Best??) were wearin' the green Friday night when they were presented with some fresh shamrocks, flown out that morning from Ireland. Kevin Molloy of the Molloy Showband (centre), dance organizer Frank Lee and guest dancer Karen Knight (right) are pictured with the Bests at the dance in Holy Rosary Hall.—(Staff Photo)