Building booming

CONSTRUCTION IS BOOMING in Milton right now as municipal, industrial and residential projects forge ahead during the good building weather. Top left, Milton Hydro crews erect new concrete poles beside Highway 25 at the north entrance to town, following the reconstruction and widening program that began last fall. Top right, bricklayer Vincenzo Marcello of Toronto hoists another brick to the wall of a new home in the Wimpey subdivision north of Main St. and east of Ontario St. The three developers holding property in the area will start the first 400 of 1,200 homes this year. Centre right, carpenters are at work and machinery toils in the background at the site of Barber-Greene Company in the Alliance industrial mall north of Steeles Ave. An $800,000 plant is underway which will employ 125 employees. Lower left, workers are shown bricking walls at more Wimpey homes. Lower right, "Miltonview Gardens" is the name for another 343 home subdivision in the north-east quadrant, with the first 127 homes to be erected by Armstrong Homes on property owned by Halton Land Group. The sign and sales trailer are located on Steeles Ave. near the Third Line and machines started removing topsoil there last week. Elsewhere in town, a new works garage is starting to take shape on Nipissing Rd. and the Main St. reconstruction got underway this week as workmen closed off Mill St. to tie into service mains.
