

Ten commandments of hunter safety

1. Treat every gun as if it were loaded.
2. Be sure of your target before you squeeze the trigger. Positively identify the target as legal game. Never shoot at sounds or movements in the bush.
3. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to kill, not even when the gun is not loaded. Avoid all horseplay while handling a gun; a gun is not a toy.
4. Always carry your gun so that the muzzle is under control at all times. Sudden jars sometimes release the trigger.
5. Guns must always be unloaded when carried into camp or when not in use. Take one last check of your gun before entering camp. Actions should be open, or guns taken down, when the hunt is completed.
6. Make sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions. If the muzzle touches the ground or other objects, always check for obstructions. Remove oil and grease from the bore before firing. Only carry ammunition for the gun you are using.
7. Unattended guns should be unloaded. Guns and ammunition should be stored separately, beyond the reach of children or careless adults. In the field, leave guns aside and unloaded during lunch or smoke breaks with other hunters.
8. Never climb a fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun. Place the gun on the other side of the fence before climbing (at another post).
9. Never shoot at flat or hard objects or the surface of water. You cannot control the direction of a ricochet. When sighting-in, be sure your backstop is adequate.
10. Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during the hunt. Drinking dulls the vision, distorts the aim and impairs the judgement.
