THE MUSIC WAS just too much for Michael Paupst, 7, when Britton's Bunch took to the streets Friday. The assortment of players used their dusted off horns, tubas, and other musical instruments to entertain people on Milton's Main St. and around the town.

ANDY FRANK, retired Halton sheriff, blows a mellow saxophone and he was one of the Britton's Bunch musicians who played on Main St., in the arena and at the hospital, Manor, Harmony Court Apartments and Milton Plaza Friday evening.

EVEN THE MAYOR got into the act when Britton's Bunch, a group of amateur local musicians got together to play Christmas carols on the streets and around the town Friday. Mayor Best supplied a bus for transportation plus a lunch afterwards for the musicians and carollers, as well as playing his cornet in the band.

Prepay $35,000 levies on senior housing here

The Ontario Housing Corporation has confirmed to Milton Council that it would prepay capital levies of $35,000 for construction of senior citizen housing units on the Bruce St. School.

The Corporation has applied for a rezoning of the property on Ontario St. to permit up to 100 units. They will pay the total capital levy on the successful completion of the rezoning and closing of the purchase.

Close in drainage ditch Credit Union expanding

Installation of a new six inch watermain will be required across the Milton Community Credit Union property as part of the town's agreement to permit the creek enclosure at the point, Milton Council agreed Monday.

The town will supply the pipe for the project with installation to the town specifications. The new line will replace an old four inch line which crosses the property on an easement.

deterrent bumps was also proposed to insure traffic did not use the route through the parking area from Main St. to Mary St.

Residents on Mary St. had earlier complained of the plan to open the closed portion of a road to traffic.

The Credit Union will enclose the existing drainage ditch through the property to Mary St. and add to their parking facilities on land acquired from the town which fronts on Mary St.

The Credit Union is reported in minutes of the Works Committee as suggesting the present plan for the property was for additional parking and to allow for an expansion of the present building. Staff parking is proposed on the area next to Mary St., with the walkway to Mary being retained. No access or exit to Mary St. for vehicular traffic was proposed for Mary St. at this time.

THE TOWN FATHERS might be another name for Britton's Bunch. Councillor Syd Childs and Milton's Works Superintendent Bruce McKerr are both trombone players with the band that gets together each year at Christmas to play carols around the town. This year the group took along a box for Fire Fund donations and onlookers donated $15.00.

WORSHIP . . . by whose standard?

New Testament worship is simple, direct and sincere. Those who engage in the type of worship that is pleasing to God are guided by specific New Testament teachings. Then, they may be assured that they are worshipping "in spirit and in truth." (Jn. 4:23, 24). We show our devotion and adoration of God by doing the things that He has commanded. It is equally important to omit the "commandments of men" since that would make worship vain. (Matt. 15:9).

As the churches of Christ follow the New Testament plan they engage in five distinct acts of worship: (1) The Lord's Supper; (2) and upon the first day of the week, when we were gathered together to break bread, Paul discoursed with them; (Acts 20:7). The original Greek implies the first day of every week was their custom in partaking of the Lord's Supper. In this, "they continued steadfastly" (Acts 2:42). Also, (2) teaching, (3) fellowship and (4) prayers (see Acts 2:42). (5) Singing together "with the spirit and the understanding" making melody with the instrument that was specified by God, the heart (Eph. 5:19).

We do not dare and do not desire to change the pattern set by God for approved worship. We must not go beyond the things which are written. (1 Cor. 4:6).

Safety Corner

By Roy Downs

Male drivers will be amazed to hear some statistics on the life of car tires, which certainly makes those "women drivers" look pretty good.

A study by one of the manufacturers shows woman drivers get about 10,000 more miles of wear out of a set of tires than men. Women averaged about 30,000 miles before needing their tires replaced, while men averaged 20,000. Some men got as little as 12,000 miles out of a set of tires.

Here's a holiday quote for you, from Swiss physicist Johann George Zimmerman, who lived from 1728 to 1793: "Put this restriction on your pleasures; be cautious that they injure no being that lives." Remember that one on New Year's Eve, suggests Ontario Safety League.

A Happy New Year to snowmobilers from the Ontario Safety League. Here are some practical suggestions on how to keep it happy and enjoyable:

—Do not drink and drive your snowmobile. Impaired ability is a contributing factor in most snowmobile accidents.

—Collisions with motor vehicles is the greatest single cause of snowmobile fatalities, so do not travel on public thoroughfares and only cross them, where permissible, with extreme caution.

—Do not snowmobile on ice-covered lakes and rivers without an intimate knowledge of local conditions.

—Snowmobiling on railroad tracks is illegal and extremely dangerous.

—The majority of snowmobile accidents happen at night, do not overdrive your headlights.

—When snowmobiling cross-country always use the "buddy system"; two machines or more in the group.

—Wear proper snowmobile clothing and an approved safety helmet at all times.
