Henderson stars in Juvenile win

Steven Henderson pitched a three hitter and batted a triple, a double and a single in leading Milton Juveniles to a 6-2 win over Oakville in a game played last Tuesday at Milton fair grounds.

Milton got off to a good start with three runs in the first inning. McTrach singled, Hyatt got on with an error, McCann doubled and Cargill the clean-up batter had a base hit to account for the three runs. Henderson's triple in the fifth inning knocked in two more runs following Cargill's scoring walk in the third.

Robs big bat

Beaulieu robbed Currie, Oakville's big bat in the third and final inning with two great catches in right field. Both times a runner was left on base and a hit could have made a difference on the final outcome.

Milton's infield did not play their best game of the year as they accounted for seven errors. Henderson struck out five Oakville batters and walked five others. Milton plays Mississauga Juveniles at home on Community Day, July 1.

comradeship with her students. Often she would take a special interest in a student's problem and invite him for special help at 8 a.m. before classes started.

After 38 years in the education business, Mrs. MacArthur looks back to her work at Galt as probably her greatest contribution.

"I was with those girls all the time, during the day, after schol and in the evenings. They came to me for everything."

On leaving that institution the superintendent advised Mrs. MacArthur of a strange but enviable honor she had earned. "During three years you've been here, not one girl has run away," the superintendent said.

The same sharp tongue and good sense of humor that won her respect as an educator saw her become widely known as "the voice of the north" when she embarked upon a career in municipal politics. Won a seat

She first won a seat on Nassagaweya Council in 1965 and moved up to Reeve in August of 1969. A fight to have legislation for quarry rehabilitation passed, a battle to keep Nassagaweya intact as one unit and the fight to generally have good representation for the township were among the lady reeve's larger goals and aspirations.

She recalls speaking at a of rural convention municipalities several years ago, to have a tax imposed on each ton of extractive material taken from quarries so rehabilitation could be carried on. That was in 1966 and just recently the tax has become a reality.

As Mrs. MacAruthur looks ahead to retirement as a teacher, she also faces an uncertain future in politics. With the innovation of regional governmen Nassagaweya and Milton will be served by one common council.

The reeve indicated she had not vet decided on where she would run, or if she would run at all, in the coming election.

She indicated one of her real concerns about life in Nassagaweya is the lack of housing opportunity. She notes she has always been in opposition to legislation that makes it mandatory for people to buy five acre lots on which to build homes.

Must be a way "With all that land there must be more than a place to stand. There should be an opportunity for people other than those who are wealthy to buy a home in Nassagaweya. I don't know how, but there has to be a way found."

While her political future is uncertain, one thing Mrs. MacArthur hopes to spend more time at is antiques, a hobby that both she and her late husband Charles enjoyed.

While Mrs. MacArthur doesn't plan to go into the business as an

The only word police gave, was that they are still investigating and no clues were given as to suspects. A rash of other small vandalisms have occurred in the past week.
