Continued from Page B6 create a new society for human beings!

Leaving the building at the end of the conference I caught up with a young mother struggling with three preschool, overtired, whining children. "They can talk all they like about women's rights", she said, "but how can you change a guy who won't even stay with the kids for a few hours so I can get out by myself? As far as I'm concerned, it all begins at home".
