

Day for discovery

A "Day for Discovery" is being held Saturday at Ontario School for the Deaf. Beginning at 9:30 a.m. the Rev. R. Prendergast of St. George's Church, Hamilton will lead discussion in such topics as What a Question? Eucharist, Famine or Feast? and Worship or Waste? The day is sponsored by the Christian Education committee of Grace Anglican Church. Registration is one dollar and baby sitting will be available free of charge.

Color wheels make plan

Mrs. E. Bannister was a special guest at the fifth and sixth meeting of the Nassagawee Color Wheels, a 4-H group in the township. Mrs. Bannister is the head of the Halton 4-H program and makes regular visits to the group. Members of the committee discussed plans for achievement day Dec. 8 at St. Paul's Church in Milton. Joan Windmoller is the press reporter for the group.

Mrs. M. Robertson heads directors

A pot luck dinner preceded the annual meeting of the Lady Directors of Halton Agricultural Society which was held in the Agricultural Hall with a good attendance. Chairman was Mrs. Mary Robertson. A report of District Five Annual was given. Eighteen directors and Fair Queen Verna Fisher attended District Annual at Collingwood this year. District representative Mrs. Ruth Ford was in charge of the women's program. Prizes lists were reviewed and a few changes made for the coming year.

DALE VIVIAN CHUCHMACH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Chuchmach of 337 Williams Ave., Milton, and Ronald Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams of Simcoe are shown following their marriage at Holy Rosary Church, Milton, Oct. 13. Dale and Ron will be residing in Guelph.

Time flies 4-Hers learn

Milton Bedroom Beauties 4-H club members have learned that time flies by when one is busy learning about bias, cord piping, inserting zippers and blind hemstitching for a cushion or bedspread. Dresser scarves showing a mitre corner and or Italian hemstitching are also popular with the gals. Any one of the above will be proudly on display in their bedroom. The dull corner is also popular this season with old lamp shades having new faces and maybe a desk pad or bulletin board to keep it company. Plans for achievement day are well under way.

Well-known educators pass away

Three former employees of Halton Board of Education died last week. Elmer Smith, a long time principal at M.Z. Bennett School in Acton, Ken Hollier, who was head of music at Nelson High School and M. Atchison who served as principal of a number of schools in Halton County all died last week. The deaths were announced at a board of education meeting Thursday. Director of Education Jim Singleton noted Mr. Smith was very highly respected in Acton and had just retired in June. Singleton recalled a large party had been given by the community for Mr. Smith and Pat McKenzie of Acton who also retired in June. Both served in Acton schools for many years. Among Mr. Smith's interests was the Acton Citizens Band, of which he was a member. Mr. Hollier had been active with the Oakville symphony, and died while conducting an orchestra concert.

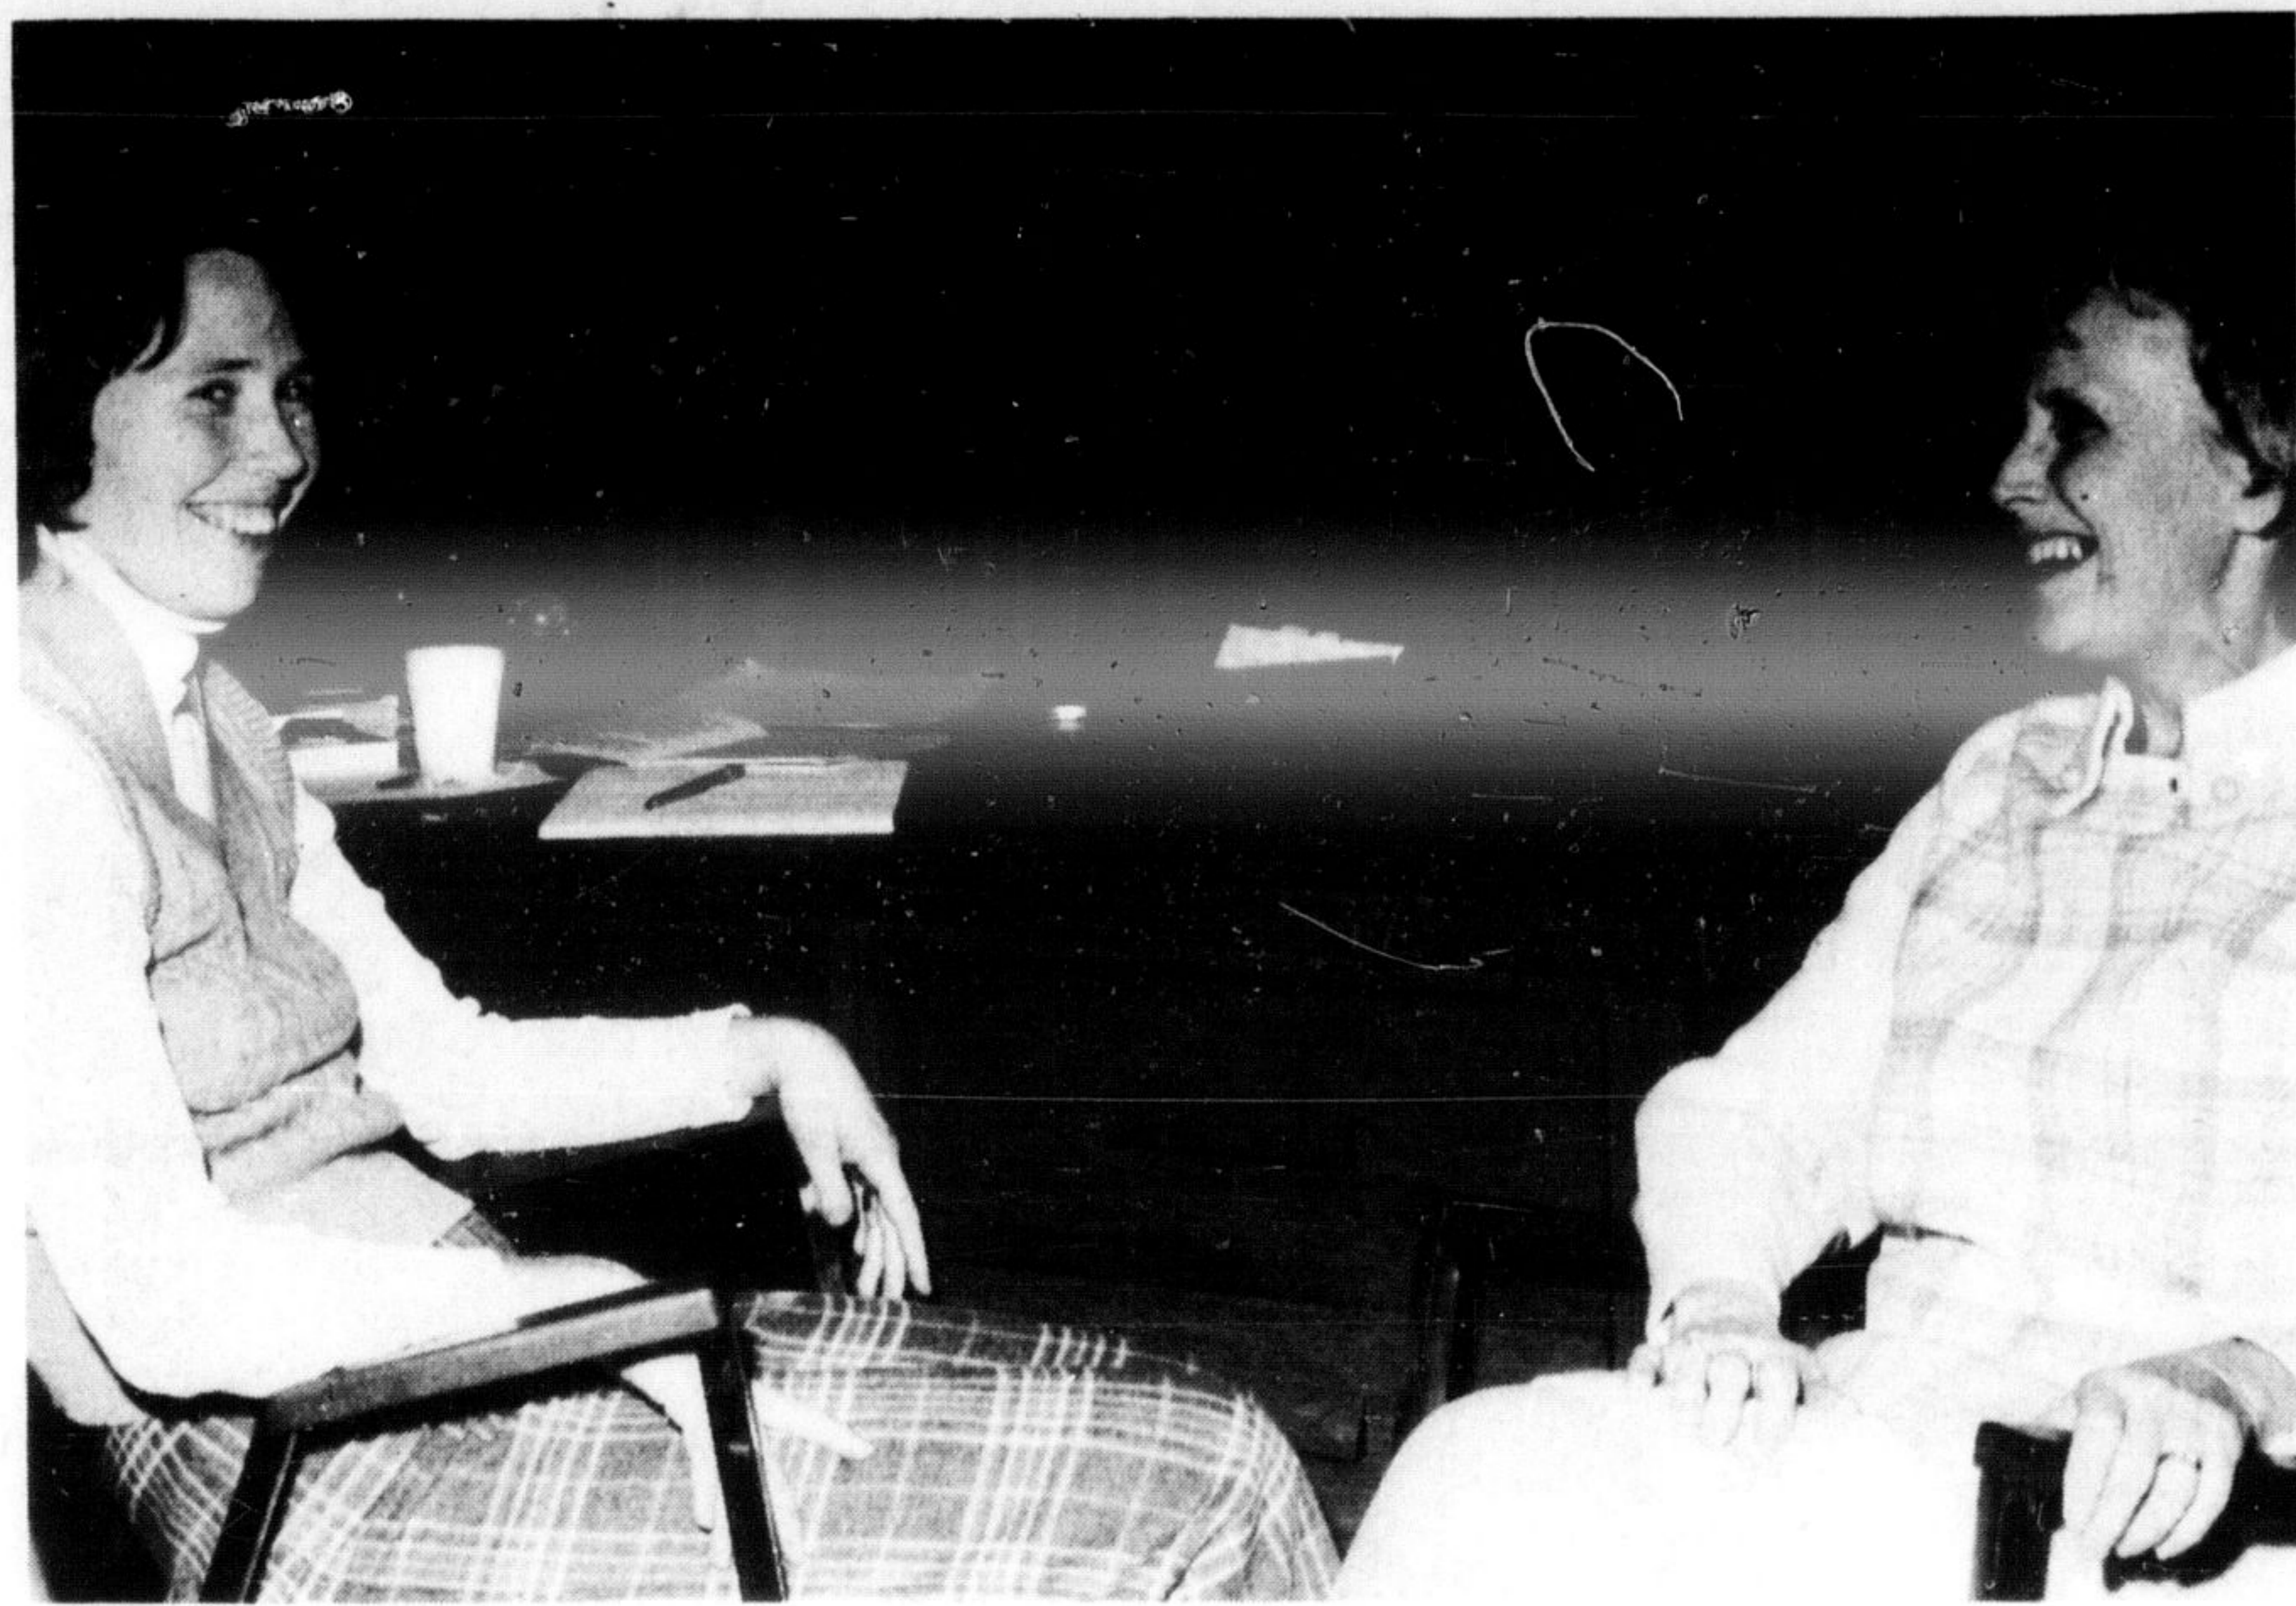

—It's Youth Appreciation Week in Milton.

Happy birthday wishes go to Andrea Gauthier who celebrates her 8th birthday on Nov. 19. The Girl Guides of Canada, Halton Division held their annual dinner at Hillcrest United Church on Trafalgar Rd. on Thursday, Nov. 8. Guest speaker was Rev. R. Rumball. His topic was "Communication" and he explained his work as advisor and interpreter for the deaf.

Name volunteer co-ordinator for Halton Children's Aid

By Joyce Beaton
Nancy Ross has been hired by the Halton Children's Aid Society as volunteer co-ordinator. This is a part-time position previously handled by three volunteers. Mrs. Ross has her master's degree in social work. A resident of Burlington for the past year and a half, she previously worked as the director of a day care centre at the University of Michigan. The centre was staffed entirely by volunteers, enabling Nancy to gain experience in community organization. Her job with CAS will be as liaison between the agency and the existing volunteer groups.

The CAS auxiliary was formed in 1971 under the leadership of Mrs. Catherine Walsh. It was felt that the needs of the clients would be better served by involved people in the community. Volunteers are used as drivers, case-aid workers, office librarian, evening receptionist, and group co-ordinators. Male volunteers It is not a women's group but includes male volunteers as well. One of the men is a high school teacher who is tutoring a family of two boys and is about to start helping a boy in another family. A gentleman from Milton has been taking three boys out for an evening of sports each week. This personal male interest is important for boys who do not have a strong paternal influence in their lives. Mrs. Ross says. Volunteers are carefully screened and interviewed before working with the CAS. Warm-hearted, emotionally mature individuals are needed for this special work. Drivers used Once a week a woman goes into the court house with the express purpose of making the experience comfortable for clients of CAS. She devotes her time making coffee and being on hand if needed. People with a specific talent in home counselling or management of household affairs volunteer their off-hours to case-aid work. Volunteer drivers take children and foster parents to doctor's appointments, hospitals, or to special visits. One woman is working as a big sister to a teenager on probation. Another is working with a large family which is in touch with the agency but has declined the help of every community agency. The auxiliary volunteer is this community's link with this family.
