A honker

The woman driver had stalled her car at a traffic light. She tried desperately to start the engine again while, behind her, an impatient man rudely honked his horn. After a moment or two the lady climbed out of her car and walked back to her tormentor's vehicle.

"I'm very sorry," she said in an agate voice, "I can't seem to start my car. But if you'd try to start it for me, I'll stay here and honk your horn for you."

Lions treat residents to yule lights tour

The Lions Club of Campbellville roared their way through a snow storm Wednesday night. The occasion was the annual bus tour of Christmas lights and the Lions didn't want to disappoint the busload of Campbellville residents who came out.

Lion Murray Inglis, tour conductor, pointed out the illuminated decorations as the bus went through the streets of Milton, Burlington, and Carlisle. Despite the energy crisis warning, lights were burning brightly welcoming the Christmas season.

The tour, which in past years has gone as far as Simcoe, lasted a short hour and a half because of the stormy weather. Inglis Bus Lines of Campbellville donated the bus and driver for the evening.

Campbellville Lions, in addition to their complementary bus tour for adult residents, treated the children of the village to a Christmas party. Santa visited each child in the Masonic Hall on Saturday with treats and games.
