Town's early news on library microfilms

By Bob Burtt Students and others involved in researching Milton's past will now have access to records of the Milton Newspaper from 1855 on. While there are some gaps in the issues provided on microfilm, librarian Shelagh Conway hopes to eventually close the gap so that only a relatively few issues are missing

Milton Public Library in conjunction with The Canadian Champion is in the process of having all existing Milton newspaper files recorded on microfilm. Currently the years from 1855 to 1858, from 1862 to 1931 microfilm and available at the library.

A microfilm reader is on hand and can be used at no cost. Records however can not leave the library, Mrs. Conway said.

The reader is simple to operate and the tapes are
