I hope everhone had a very happy Easter weekend. wonder what you all had as your celebration dinner. Unlike Christmas, when turkey is the accepted dish, Easter has quite a variety of traditional meals. Of course turkey is always popular but other dishes you may find on Easter Sunday are roast pork, rack of lamb, baked ham, and weather permitting, barbecue spare ribs. My favorite is the baked ham. I like to buy one large enough to ensure leftovers. There are so many delicious dishes to prepare with cooked ham. Here are just a few.

HAWAIIAN CASSEROLE

1 cup long grain rice Chicken stock small onion (chopped) ½ cup frozen peas 1 tin pineapple pieces

1 cup of ham (cubed) Saute onion in a little butter or oil until tender. Add rice and stir. Drain pineapple, reserving the juice. Pour juice into a 2 cup measuring cup and top up with chicken stock. Add the two cups of liquid to the rice and the frozen peas. Bring to a boil, cover turning down the heat as low as possible. Leave for 20 min. without removing the lid to have a peak. Add pineapple and ham cubes just before serving and heat

SCRUMPTIOUS HAM ON A BUN

Ham slices Pineapple pieces (drained) Your favorite cheese

Kaiser rolls Spread rolls with butter, place ham slices on bottom half, sprinkle with pineapple bits and top with cheese. Cover with top half of roll and wrap tightly in tinfoil, Place in a 325 oven for 15 min. You can't beat this for a superb lunch or supper. Served with salad, it has all the vitamins you need for a well balanced meal.

HAM AND SCALLOPED POTATOES

3 or 4 potatoes (thinly sliced) 2 tbsp. flour

5 tbsp. butter 11/4 cups milk (heated) 1/4 tsp. mustard

1/4 tsp. paprika Pepper

1 onion (thinly sliced) Thin slices of ham

Line a 10 inch greased baking dish with ham slices. Add a layer of potato slices and onion rings. Sprinkle with flour and dot with butter. Repeat this layering until pan is full, ending with a potato layer.

Warm the milk and add the spices to it. Pour milk over the potatoes. Bake covered for the first half hour in a 350 oven. Remove the cover and continue baking for another hour. Any kind of leftover meat can be used in this recipe, or even a few slices of crisp bacon.

speech especially enjoyable. Mr. Balkind holds a sincere belief in the ultimate importance of child raising. According to him, parenting is the most important role an time-yet it is the most untheory of the development of the children. A nursery

More knowledge about child raising would give parents assurance for those more and frustrating stages of child development.

Mr. Balkind emphasized the importance of parents sharing equally the responsibilities of parenting. An addition to the family could mean a complete realignment of the parents' lifestyle; however, any sincere com mitment requires certain concessions.

Mr. Balkind would like to see the school system and the parents work together more closely towards a better understanding of the child. With great enthusiasm, he derrated. Ironically, this discusses his proposal to most important occupation, bring adolescents into closer contact with young children. He wants very much to see education. school, placed in the high school, and operated by trained staff and high school students, would not only give immediate aid to working parents in the area, but would also have certain long-range benefits for the community. In caring for children and realizing their needs, adolescents would be preparing themselves for their future as responsible parents. Through firsthand experiences, young people could become aware of both the difficulties and joys involved in raising children, and of its complexities and responsibilities. In dealing with children on regular basis, young teenagers inevitably would learn about themselves as well. Such experience would prove valuable later on in life, when these same individuals are facing the decision of whether or not to become parents themselves. Members showed great interest in Mr. Balkind's proposal, and asked many quesions following his speech. The club thanked him for an interesting evening and wished him success in his attempts to make his proposal a reality.

Education Week in Ontario is April 17-23.

Here's how you can find out more about your child's school.

Now is a good time for you to become personally acquainted with your local school.

During Education Week, stop in for a visit and discover what your children are learning. Get to know the principal and teacher. Find out more about the activities.

While you're there, ask about the new "community school" concept which invites participation by parents in making the local school something of a community centre for neighbourhood activities and programs. "Community school" is an idea developed by your Ontario Ministry of Education and is a partnership of school and community - people working together for everybody's sake.
