built nearby. Councillor Art Melanson said the villagers of Campbellville should be "coholders of responsibility" as the town took the heavy truck traffic off their doorstep and placed it all at the Fenwicks'. Council could even make a profit on reselling the home, Councillor Gordon Krantz. But even if the town resells the home at a slight loss, most of the cost should be recovered, he reasoned. Councillors Krantz, Melanson, Harrison and Russ Powadiuk voted in favor of Maplehurst Inmates in Correctional and Training Centre can now look forward to more frequent from family and friends.

Since early January the of Correctional Ministry Services has operated a bus Toronto to service from Maplehurst for visitors, who pay three dollars for the return trip. Many of Maplehurst's inmates come from Toronto. The service operates Tuesday evenings. Before Operation Springboard, as the bus service is known, getting to Milton was a hardship for many families. Once in Milton they had to take a taxi to Maplehurst, an expense some couldn't afford. The bus takes them directly to the institution.
