

DEDICATION of a new window took place at the Sunday service of St. George's Anglican Church at Lowville. The stained glass window in the background was purchased by Lt.-Col. G.A. Burton (centre) in memory of his first wife Audrey. Officiating at the ceremony was Rt. Rev. Kent Clarke, Suffragan Bishop of Niagara and the church's minister Rev. Beverly Shanley.

ANNIE AND ERLAND JAY and members of their family stand with Rev. Beverly Shanley of St. George's Anglican Church, Lowville, on the ground the family gave to the church. The land, which was dedicated Sunday, will be used as an addition to the church's cemetery.

Hooray for Margaret

The editor: The letter by Margaret Harris in last week's Champion gets full marks in my book! Hats off to a lady with intelligence, knowledge, integrity, ability, courage and convictions to bring facts to public attention. It would be a wonderful world if there were more people of her calibre. Unfortunately, there will be those who will lightly pass up such good, solid, practical common sense as being negative rather than realistic and factual. To those who will open their eyes, there is plenty of evidence all around us in society, particularly since the Hall-Dennis report, that problems are not only becoming more numerous, but more complex and confusing. As the spiral for excessive education costs continues to escalate, there has never been a time when taxpayers and parents have paid more for less. While bills have been coming in for more money and less work, not all accounts are of a monetary nature. We are paying an enormous price by way of stress, frustration and stability by lack of efficiency, productivity, morals, standards, respect, responsibility, discipline of mind and body, ethics. There is arrogance, independence, careless permissive attitudes, full courts, vandalism, etcetera, etcetera. The sad tragedy is from a long range standpoint. The full amount is not all presented to our generation for payment. Margaret Harris - and any other dedicated individual, deserves great credit in this important contribution towards the monumental task of building a better humanity. In this, the Hon. Bette Stephenson, our new Education Minister, has an extremely heavy workload. Her influences can have tremendous effects. She cannot accomplish maximum benefits alone. A demanding, sensible public can be helpful. On the other hand, phony advice, given by so-called professional experts can be a serious deterrent.

Three Nov. 11 events remember the fallen

Milton Branch 136 of the Royal Canadian Legion is planning a busy day Saturday, Nov. 11 as Legionnaires and citizens prepare to remember the fallen of two wars and the Korean conflict.

A 9 a.m. service at Evergreen Cemetery kicks off the day, to be followed by the annual parade and cenotaph service at 11 a.m. in Victoria Park. The marchers will form up at the Legion at 10:30 a.m. for the parade to the cenotaph.

That same evening the annual dinner will be held at the Legion Hall. Poppies are already on sale in local stores and the week of Nov. 3 to 11 has been proclaimed Remembrance Week in Milton.

Fashions, abortion studied

October has been a busy month for Theta Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Members have presented informative and varied programs, including one on fashion at Jan Ashby's home, with guest speaker Nancy Schmidt, Home Economist from the Ministry of Agriculture. She discussed and demonstrated the current fall lines and ideas for accessorizing and updating the current wardrobe. Another program was on abortion with an excellent film and stimulating discussion after, at Betty Acheson's home.

Members and husbands went back in time to 16th century England, they spent an evening of dining, dancing and entertainment with Henry VIII and his wench, at "His Majesty's Feast". An uproarious time was had by all!

Members are taking a rest after the puppet and clown show on Oct. 21, but keep active and plans are underway for a Christmas bazaar in November.

They say that carrots help me see better. I wonder if House of Spectacles would consider changing it's name to House of Carrots?

Try rubbing a little lemon juice on your hands to remove ink or dye stains.

It's easy to wash baby's neck if you turn him on his stomach first. Most wee ones will automatically raise their heads in that position.

Hang pictures at eye level for best effect. If you can't avoid having wire show, paint it the same color as the wall.

Before using a new paintbrush, soak it for 12 hours in linseed oil. Makes it easier to clean.

Ever think of keeping sugar in an old coffee pot? Just pour it into the bowl - no more messy scooping from canisters.
