Young people conduct service at St. Luke's

Hand-clapping music with fresh, young voices singing under the direction of Paul Young, organist and choir leader, and following consultation with the Rector, the Rev. W. S. Noble, conducted the evening service.

By so doing, they communicated a modern and inspiring message of dedication, challenge and joy to the congregation. The young people planned the service in its entirety with Carol Munro responsible for the final formation.

Judi Oates was the speaker at the service and spoke of the fact that everything could be done in a Christian way. She said, "The way in which we do a thing, or the way in which we say something, makes all the difference to its meaning." Judi called on all Christians to show their beliefs in their day by day living and not to give up when things went wrong.

The modern songs presented by the youthful choir were mentioned by the speaker as she told of what the sentiments and words meant and she suggested the interpretation of the songs emphasized the beliefs of those who raised their voices in enthusiastic praise.

Carol Munro led the service with Lynn Oates and Russ Oates reading the lessons and Wendy Wheelband and Marg Simms presenting suitable, thought-provoking selections. Rick Patz of Toronto and Louise Redstone of Oakville assisted with the guitars and drums, and Wendy Guy, also of Oakville, was the soloist. Paul Young provided the piano accompaniment with Loree White of Oakville at the organ. Young people of the parish comprised the choir. Russ Oates and Lynn Oates presented the offertory.

Following the service donuts and coffee were enjoyed in the parish hall at which time congratulations were extended to all who had participated in the service. Bill Moore, People's Warden, expressed thanks on behalf of the congregation.

-Milton Lions Club welcomed Deputy Governor Bob Emond at its last meeting.
