Cunningham, Mrs. E. Price, Mrs. Charles Wilson, Harvey Dunn, J. C. Marshall, J. C. Cunningham. There were

An interesting article was read, this had appeared in the Sept. 24, 1959 issue of The Canadian Champion, and was a write-up of the 121st anniversary of the 50th anniversary of church worship in the present Omagh Presbyterian church.

The guest minister at that service was Rev. Walter Welch, BSA, of Humber Heights church and brother of the present minister of Omagh Rev. Larry Welch, on that anniversary in 1959. The same hymns were sung as at the dedication in 1909.

It was decided that as a brief course of study for the group a few verses of

Explains Brazilian cattle expirement

By Mrs. Cecil Patterson
The weekly Saturday night euchre at Hornby Community Centre drew 13 tables of players and had the following prize winners. Nellie Lane, Rose Trefoli, Isobel Thompson, Vivian Shaw, Harvey Dunn, Wilmer Mason, Ethel Webb, Ralph Featherston. Special draw prizes donated by Flash Taxi went to Charlotte Greenlees and Keith Webb, and Mrs. Dave Dowling was the lucky winner of a beautiful floral arrangement from Webb's Greenhouse.

Mrs. Marjorie Lister hosted the UCW meeting of Bethel church on Wednesday, Feb. 6 at 1 p.m. Mrs. E. Ball presided and read a poem, Live One Day at a Time. A letter of thanks was read from Audrey Lawrence for the cash Christmas gift sent to her on Taiwan, where she is a missionary teacher. She hopes that she may rejoin the staff in Chad where she was for many years. A thank you for flowers was read from Peter Pawliw. The group is getting organized for the World Day of Prayer to be held March 7 at 1:30 p.m. at Bethel church, when anyone interested is invited to attend. The churches represented are St. Stephen's Anglican, Hillcrest United and Omagh Presbyterian.

Mrs. J. Pickett introduced the guest speaker Hugh Beaty who showed slides and gave an address on "Share" and his work for two years at Mossoro, Brazil. This was started by the United church and helped by Peel and Halton farmers who contributed 38 heifers and three bulls. These were taken to Brazil to provide the Brazilians with healthy, strong animals and teach them how to care for them.

Mrs. Beaty told that their home was a very small house with floors, walls and ceiling of cement. They did have a gas stove and electric refrigerator. In Brazil there are five per cent very rich, 15 per cent middle class, 80 per cent poverty poor. To be able to reach and help the people they had to live somewhat like them, only the poor had mud floors and huts. Sanitation is almost non-existent, so there were plenty of flies. As it is only five per cent south of equator it is very hot and by 10 a.m. it would be 95 degrees.

Most of the wells are 3,000 ft. deep and the water coming from the taps would be very hot, at any rate the water had to be boiled and boiled before using. A town in Brazil of 100,000 people would live in the area that would house only 20,000 in Canada. Each family has one plot in the cemetery with one coffin so all deceased would be on top of one another—just lift the lid and pop them in.

The water is run by canals from the Atlantic Ocean, about 400 miles long and goes from one canal to another until it evaporates away, but leaving a salt deposit which is very important in this hot country. Coffee growing, cement and salt were the main industries. Prisoners in jails must be fed by their own families or they would starve. Any crime against the government draws severe punishment.

The 38 heifers produced 37 calves of which 19 were male. These animals were housed at the college and when they were about six months old were sold to the well-to-do farmers for $36,000 in American money. The proceeds went to the college and would be invested in seed or livestock for the less fortunate farmers.

Milk from the 38 heifers was sent to local orphanages. The feed is elephant grass which must be chopped by machine but very low in protein so the Holsteins did not produce well.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaty lived for two years in Brazil and two young college students from that country worked in dairy farms in Halton and have returned home to care for the Canadian animals. Mr. Beaty stressed that pineapples, oranges and bananas were plentiful and delicious.

Mr. Beaty has a great interest in the cattle and people of Brazil and stated he might return in September. Mrs. Ball thanked Mr. Beaty for the fine talk and an insight as to how life is lived in Brazil.

Lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. S. McMillan.

Take a look at answers for the 80's

If you believe curbing inflation begins with sound economic management

Before the election, the Clark government was restoring confidence in our economy and our dollar. The new budget was an honest and realistic plan for the '80's which controlled government spending and halted Canada's plunge into debt.

Financial critics called the Clark budget "courageous" and "disciplined". The Liberals and the NDP say deficits don't matter. Their approach didn't work in the '70's and won't work in the '80's. Responsible economic management is a real change Canada must have.

If you believe Canada should pull its weight in the world

Before the election, the Clark government had begun to undo the damage of Trudeau's policy that weakened our Armed Forces and reduced our commitment to NATO. The Clark government will strengthen our Armed Forces and meet our obligations to our allies.

Recent events have shown Canada can be an influential partner in the Western Alliance with a government committed to pulling our weight.

If you believe small businesses, farmers, and fishermen deserve a break

Before the election, the Clark government introduced a budget which would let you pay wages to a spouse who works with you and deduct the cost from your taxable income. The budget created special bonds to cut your interest costs in half. The budget allowed farmers and fishermen a 10¢ a gallon gasoline tax credit. The Clark government recognizes that Canada grows when small businesses grow.

If you believe owning a home is a right of the average Canadian

Before the election, the Clark government had introduced a mortgage and property tax credit that would make home ownership easier in the '80's. 3.5 million Canadian families would have received up to $375 this year and up to $1500 by 1982. Thousands of jobs would have been created in the homebuilding industry.

The Liberals and the NDP voted against it. Help to homeowners is a real change Canadians want.

If you believe Canada must rely on its own energy resources

Before the election, the Clark government's policy for energy self-sufficiency was its first priority. Under the Clark government plan, oil prices will rise to realistic levels to encourage the development of Canadian oil sources but Canadian prices will always be 15% less than American prices.

The gasoline tax will pay for an energy tax credit for low and middle income Canadians and help now to pay the ever-increasing cost of foreign oil. There will be no tax on heating oil.

A new tax on the profits of the multi-national oil companies will provide $6 billion to finance new energy projects like improved urban transit and alternate energy sources.

Higher prices will encourage conservation, but so will aid programs to convert oil furnaces to cheaper natural gas and assistance for home insulation.

World events have proven how vital the policy of energy self-sufficiency is to Canada's future.

If you believe you have a right to know what you're voting for

Before the election, the Clark government had begun to make the changes that Canada needs. Prime Minister Clark and his cabinet ministers have clearly defined their policies.

The Trudeau Liberals are asking you to vote for an imaginary team and non-existent policies. Most of their former stars are not running because they can't work with Trudeau.

Trudeau is promising more of the one-man rule that turned his cabinet off and disappointed Canadians. All he has to offer is more of what didn't work in the '70's.

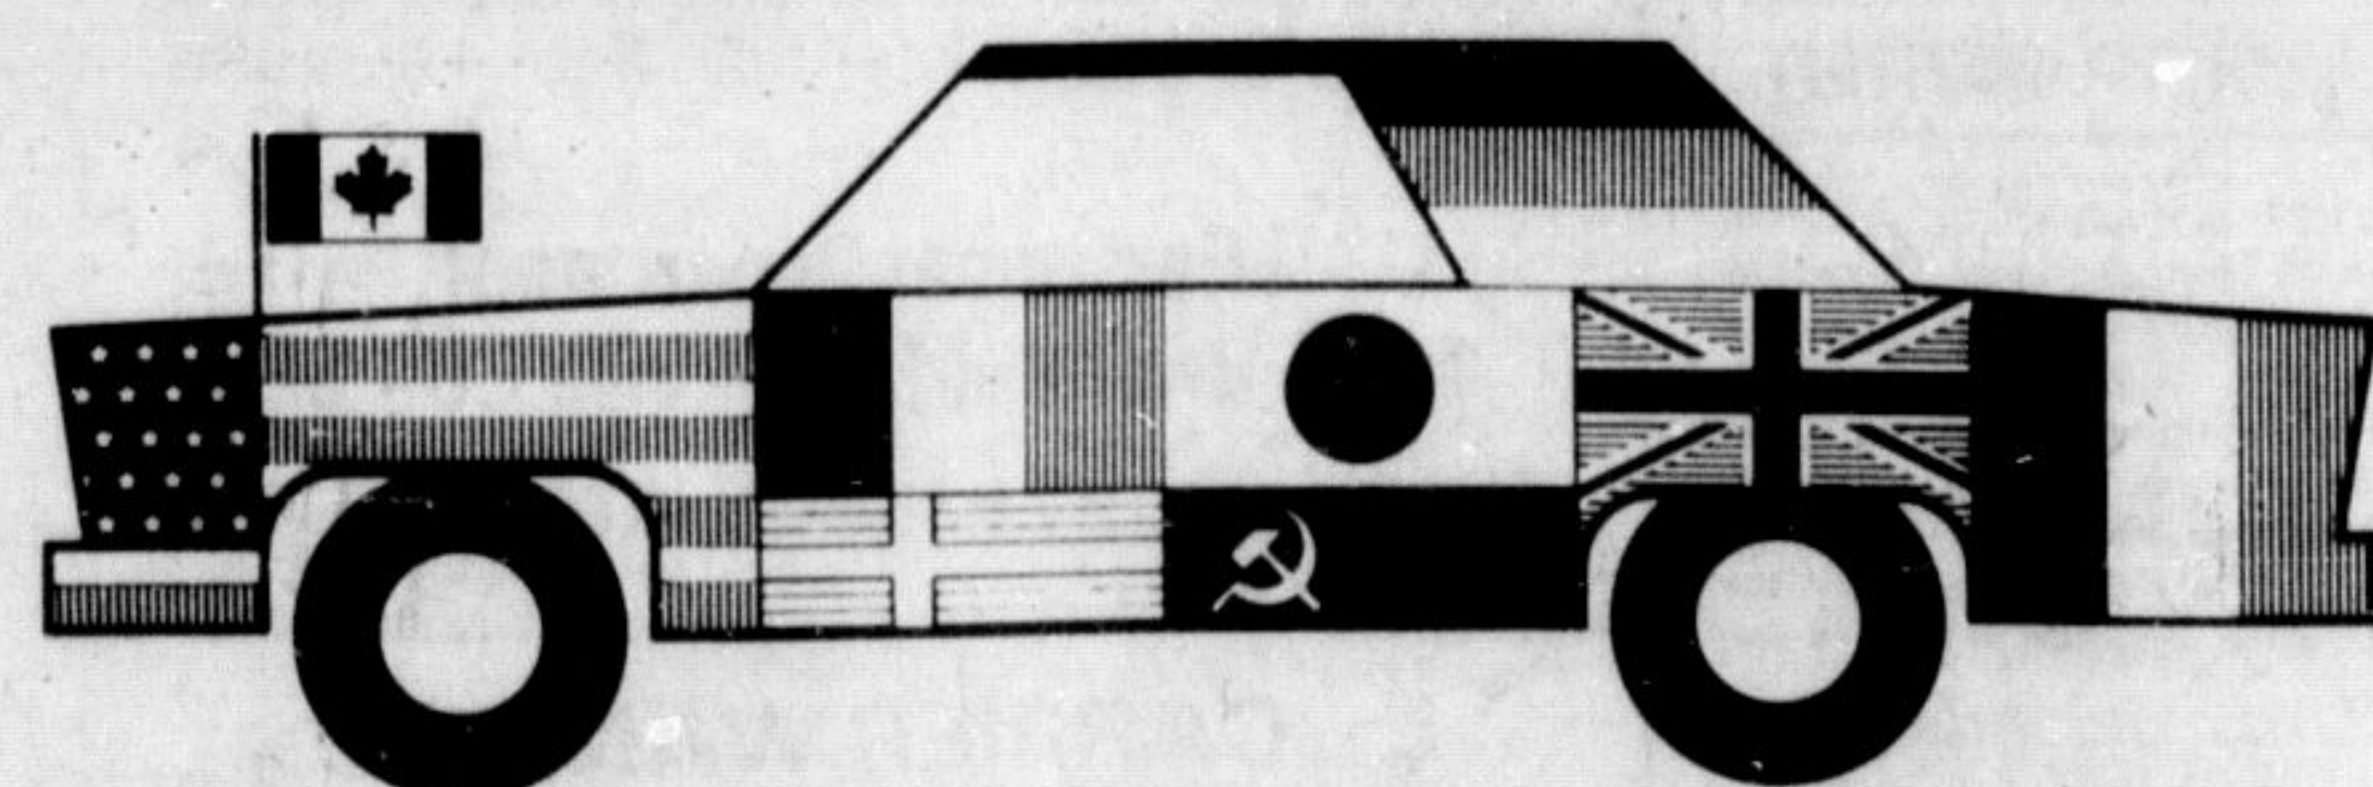

Prime Minister Clark and his government recognize there are solutions to the problems facing Canadians, and that we have the potential to meet those challenges in the '80's.

The Clark government was making real changes to guarantee Canada a secure future.
