flowerbeds and attractive trees and shrubs was a pleasing setting to welcome the hundreds who came to worship.

Scott Peckett gave a musical prelude and Mrs. Merle Leslie was at the electric organ for the service with special anthems by the Jr. and Sr. choirs. The minister Rev. John W.E. Griffen welcomed the visitors, Dr. Robert McClure of Toronto, past moderator of the United Church of Canada delivered an inspiring message. He emphasized that we must be proud of our heritage and thankful that for over a 100 years there have been no wars on Canadian soil. Dr. McClure is an optimistic person and believes that careful planning for the future is needed, if we hope to succeed, that 50 per cent of young people under 15 years go to bed hungry, and that Christians in this rapidly changing and shrinking world must help in education and health conditions of those countries who are in need. Mr. McClure's message was a great inspiration to all present. At the conclusion of service, all had a tour of the new building. Visitors noted at Bethel were, Mrs. Miriam Johnson of the Toronto Presbytery, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson of Orangeville, Mr. & Mrs. Murray Hayward, Mr. & Mrs. Featherston, Orangeville and many more.

'The Fourposter'

Milton Players' next production will be "The Fourposter", by Jan de Hartog, and tickets for the Oct. 16, 17 and 18 show at Halton Manor are now on sale. This bitter-sweet comedy takes place between 1890 and 1925 and describes a marriage — from beginning to end. First-night tickets are available from Manor residents, who are selling tickets to raise funds. The Players use the Manor auditorium for rehearsals, storage and productions, and in return they stage a Manor benefit on the first night of every production. The Manor people set the ticket prices for that evening.

Tickets are $3.50 adult and $2.50 seniors and students, for the shows Oct. 17 and 18. They are available from Can Travel, Century 21 Real Estate, Harris Stationery and The Champion.

Players plan a reading of the play "Toad of Toad Hall" tonight (Wednesday) at the Manor, starting at 8 p.m. This is a children's production adapted from "Wind in the Willows." Anyone interested in the play is welcome to the reading and to the auditions which follow a week later.

The play will be presented in early December. Several characters are still needed, and there are several small parts which could help introduce new actors who may be nervous about getting on stage.

Many from this area worshipped at Bethel Church on Sunday Sept. 21 at their Anniversary service. Dr. Robert McClure was guest speaker and delivered a very fine message. He said Christians must express their love in new ways, if people are hungry feed them" if they are in a draught, drill them a well.

Meetings 2 and 3 of Hornby South 4-H were held with all members attending. Macrame was the centre of interest and each girl learned to make an attractive macrame plant hanger and will also make a free choice article. Attractive articles were displayed. Colour choice and good arrangement of furniture will be studied at the next meeting - Oct. 4. The 4-H clubs will have an exhibit in the Scout hall at the Milton Fair. Plan to view these interesting exhibits on food, safety, and other topics.

The Halton Farm

Safety Council fall meeting was held on Tuesday evening Sept. 16 in the office of Ontario Ministry of Food with 20 attending as representatives of various organizations in Halton.

Lyle Stokes president was on the chair, Rodger Clements of the Milton Fire Dept. showed a new film, "Dangers of Vapour Gases", and stressed, every farm and home should have an ABC type fire extinguisher, every member of the family should know how to use the extinguisher and the extinguisher should be checked regularly so it would be ready for action if needed.

The $50 cheque was presented to the treasurer as first prize in the recent competition at the Fire Fighters Convention in Milton July 1st.

The president thanked the committee, Mrs. Cecil Patterson, Mr. &

Mrs. Geo. Inglis and Phillip Agnew for the fine exhibit. Mr. Clements will make the presentation of a trophy at the next meeting in November.

The exhibit will be on display at Milton Fair. The Council will also sponsor a special cartoon message in the local papers warning that silo gas is very dangerous and kills quickly.

Farmers who are now harvesting their corn crop and filling their silos are reminded to use extra care and do not enter the silo for at least 2 or 3 weeks after filling; as an extra precaution, start the blower to drive out the poison gas. This danger is also prevalent in manure pits and each year several people lose their lives from this cause. Modern new chemical, sprays and fertilizers have increased the dangers of gas poisoning.

Craig Campbell is making great saves again because arthritis research is paying off.

At 14, minor hockey league goaltender, Craig Campbell, is making a comeback! Two years ago he hung up his skates to concentrate on fighting a disease that would keep him in bed for weeks at a time. Craig has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis. It struck, without warning, near the end of the 1975-76 hockey season, causing pain, weakness, swelling and fever. At that time Craig was playing at the top of his Pee Wee age class. During his five years in hockey he collected many awards, including one as the outstanding goaltender in his league. For the Campbell family, the months following that first attack were traumatic. There were times when Craig's parents despaired that their youngest child would ever lead a normal, active, life again. But "medical" research has brightened their lives. Responding "beautifully" to continuing medical treatment and physiotherapy, Craig now plays road hockey to sharpen his reflexes for the day his doctors say he can return to the ice. He swims, coaches minor league goalies and has returned to regular school gym classes. Despite long absences, his school grades are excellent. Last term he won two scholastic awards—one for science and one for general academic achievement. For Craig Campbell, and thousands of other Canadians, arthritis research is paying off. About one in every eight Canadians has some form of arthritis. But victory is coming within reach. Your support for the Arthritis Society will be used to fund vital medical research. For more information about arthritis call or write your local Arthritis Society.

Give more than a thought to arthritis.
