It's reality

McCutcheon rink tops Grand Valley

Curling Cues

with Larry McGregor
To coin a phrase of one of my colleagues in the media, what you are about to read is not news, but it, too, is reality. Whether or not it's of any consequence, I'll let you be the judge. If you do happen to find it particularly stimulating, you may have a problem.

There were some big things happening in good old Grand Valley on the weekend, where some of Milton's finest rinks showed for a mixed open 'spiel. Our very own John McCutcheon, skipping a talented trio of Hazel Reid and Larry and Peggy McPhail won all three games and finished first in the 9 a.m. draw.

McPhail was ecstatic. He figured if he could talk John into throwing last brick for the rink, he'd be in the prizes for sure. Happily for him he was. As he always says, you can never have too many extension cords!
Finishing hot on McCutcheon's heels in second or third place (Nobody could remember!) was Elmer Dredge and his team of Linde Colven, Larry Platt and Barb Dredge.

Linde indicated how much of a pleasure it was to curl with someone of Elmer's stature—at least in the two games they won. She wasn't quite as impressed with the third game, but Dredge had a good excuse for their loss—he thought it was a two-game 'spiel.

Our locals didn't fare quite as well in the second draw, although Mike and Heather Comba, curling with George and Holly McGaffin did manage to slide into third place, followed by Jeff Nurse and his rink of Marlene Gilchrist, Murray Elliott, and Kenda Nurse.

And for those of you who were wondering—yes, Russell Hurren did make the trip to Grand Valley. In fact he is partly responsible for the detailed coverage of the day's activities. His skip, Doug Peddie, who asked to remain nameless, tells us that judging by Russell's performance, he was more interested in reporting on the 'spiel than curling in it!

Speaking of out-of-town bonspiels, congratulations are in order for Milton's Barry McKay, who skipped (yup! I said skipped) a rink in (are you ready for this?) Gananoque last weekend. He shouldn't necessarily be congratulated for his success, which was somewhat limited, but for the fact he was actually able to convince someone to go into a 'spiel and let him be skip!

Trying to overcome this handicap was Barry's wife Joyce, who played vice, and former friends Vince and Brenda Donovan, who suffered on the front end.

In all fairness, it sounds like it was a pretty tough 'spiel. The McKay rink had to win a game to capture the fourth event. Way to go Barry. I'm sure we'll see a lot more of you holding the broom from now on!

Firefighters . . .

Thanks go out to the Wysman family for allowing the NHL to share in the memory of Andre.

The Racer's Edge crew is getting an unwanted rest because of the closeness of the series and contrary to reports in another paper, Racer's aren't likely to walk over either Nadalin or Firefighters in the final series.

The best hit of the night was delivered by Doug Thomson of Firefighters who unceremoniously dumped George Cescon at centre ice with an excellent hip check. It surely took the wind out of Cescon.

This contact game is supposed to belong to the younger generation but all the "kids" should take a lesson from Nadalin's John Dent. One of the "almost" senior citizens of the league, his constant work has to rate very high. Younger players in the league should take heed. All John really wants is a full all-out game from his crew and he certainly sets the example, trying to win fiercely but cleanly.

Nadalin was without the services of Keith Bridgman and Guy McGinnis while Firefighters were without Don Habkir.

Predicting an outcome for the series is not easy. The clubs have played almost even for the 11 periods in the three games. Nadalin needs to brush up their defensive work because they were caught napping several times in the game and except for Rowlin, could have been blown away early.

In a nutshell, Firefighters need to play three full periods of hockey without letting up and relying on Bailey to keep the puck at bay for them.

As the team goes, so go the goaltenders and we only hope clean goals are scored to win next Sunday and not goals of the fluke variety.

No matter what team wins, keep tabs next Sunday to see who snaps the caps after the game.

Raiders stopped

The hockey season came to an abrupt end for the Georgetown Chrysler Raiders this past weekend as their drive for the Hardy Cup, emblematic of Intermediate 'A' hockey supremacy, was stopped before it even got started.

Timmins Northstars were the team that upset the local side and they did it in fine style. The Raiders dropped the opening game of their best of three series to Timmins 8-7 after leading much of the way. The following night, facing elimination, it was no contest as the Northstars scored a 9-3 win to sweep the series in two straight.

The trouble started for the local hockey team before they even hit Timmins. The Raiders left on the Thursday evening giving them time to relax on their way up. They stopped in Sundridge (about) half way for the evening and then the troubles began.

Early the next morning the team was to leave to make the final part of the journey but when they went to board the bus they found one thing missing—the bus itself. It seems someone interested in learning how to drive the mobile unit had decided to take it for a spin, unknown to players, management or the bus driver. They found the stolen vehicle 1,500 yards up the road.

Paul Carles, John Bacon and Darren Beals helped out with two assists apiece while single assists went to Ed Oldroyd, Colin Bradley, Ed Dillon, Newby and Meli.

In the win over Hespeler, Green hit for four goals while Beals, Oldroyd and Carles hit for one goal each.

Oldroyd also had two assists while Bradley, Beals and Green had one assist each.

The tournament concludes the year for Sockets.

Milton novice Sockets captured the consolation championship of a tournament in Plattsville over the weekend with a 10-2 victory over Preston in the final game.

Tiltsburg blanked Sockets 5-0 in the opener before Milton bounced back with a 7-6 win over Hespeler and the victory over Preston to capture the consolation trophy.

James Green led Sockets offensively in both wins with a total of nine goals including five in the victory over Preston. Adrian Meli chipped in with three goals while Matt Newby
