AROUND THE HOUSE
with Bill McDonald
White fluorescent lights cost more than incandescent ones, they are clearly the better buy, lasting at least five times longer.
Remove rust easily from garden tools by rubbing them with a soapy steel wool pad that's been dipped in turpentine. Then rub again, with a piece of wadded aluminum foil.
When carpeting, save a section of the old carpet and fit it into the floor of your car trunk. It will prevent scratches and look good, too.
These cedar chips used for garden mulch are terrific when used in clothes storage closets. Just pour some into an old stocking, tie the top around a hook or wire hanger, and you've an instant, inexpensive cedarized closet.
Dried beans that require an overnight soaking can be boiled for just one hour instead.
