AROUND THE HOUSE
with Bill McDonald
When repainting, if you think you won't remember exactly where all your pictures should be rehanging, take a snapshot of the walls.
Brown tips of spider plants may be caused by a lack of calcium. Try watering them with the cooled water used to boil eggs and see if the condition doesn't improve.
When converting a recipe that includes fresh vegetables for microwave, don't add last cooking vegetables such as tomatoes, mushroom until near the end of cooking time.
Give outdoor aluminum furniture a coat of auto wax before storing. It helps prevent pitting, and dust will wipe off easily when it is next called into service.
