Truck stolen

Halton Regional Police are investigating the theft of a 1981 Kenworth tractor, stolen off the parking lot at Fifth Wheel Truck Stop Wednesday afternoon.

The thief disengaged the tractor from the trailer, taking off with the $81,000 900 tractor unit.

Police said the theft occurred at approximately 4:40 a.m. and that the truck had been locked.

Warrant out

Halton Regional Police have issued a warrant for the arrest of an Oakville man in connection with a break-in at The Farmhouse Restaurant at 395 Main St. early Wednesday morning.

Police said David Winn 20, of 2433 Bridge Rd. Oakville is wanted on charges of break and enter and theft.

Ten cases of beer, a quantity of cigarettes, assorted meats and several bottles of liquor were stolen from the restaurant.

Police said entry was gained to the premises by forcing a rear door.

Man recovering

A 39-year-old Milton man is recovering in Milton District Hospital following a serious car accident Wednesday night.

Arthur Bascom of 555 Marcellus Dr. is reported in satisfactory condition.

According to Halton Regional Police, Mr. Bascom was travelling eastbound on Derry Rd. near Commercial St. at about 11:30 p.m. when he lost control of his 1980 Honda on a curve on the road.

Police said he rolled twice and struck a hydro pole before coming to rest.

Damage to his vehicle is estimated at $3,000.

Head-on collision

Two area men are reported in satisfactory condition at Milton District Hospital following a head-on collision on Highway 25 early Saturday morning.

Robert J. Spells 26, of 606 Lees Lane, Oakville and 36-year-old Roger Arsenault of 122 Bronte St., Milton were involved in the two car collision at approximately 2 a.m.

The accident which occurred a short distance south of Derry Rd. occurred when Mr. Spells travelling southbound on Highway 25, crossed over the roadway and colliding head on with Mr. Arsenault, according to police.

Both Mr. Arsenault's 1976 Camaro and Mr. Spells' 1969 GMC pick-up truck have been written off.

Police are in the process of laying charges against Mr. Spells.

Kelso tumble (1)

A 37-year-old Toronto man suffered nothing more than a broken foot after tumbling off a cliff edge on Rattlesnake Point Sunday afternoon.

Richard Kirsh of 83 Bedford St. was leading a group of rock climbers on a climb at the popular conservation area, when the accident occurred.

Halton Regional Police said the man was an accomplished climber and apparently slipped as he was adjusting a safety apparatus.

Mr. Kirsh had completed two climbs earlier that day.

Police were uncertain about the distance of the fall but said Mr. Kirsh's safety rope was too long and did not save him from injury.

He was treated and released from Milton District Hospital.

Kelso tumble (2)

Plans to watch last week's lunar eclipse from a high vantage point, nearly cost a young Guelph man his life, after he tumbled 80 feet off Kelso bluffs.

According to Halton Regional Police, Brian Henneberry 22, of 328 Suffolk St., Guelph lost his balance and fell 80 feet shortly after midnight Monday.

He was admitted to Milton District Hospital with cuts and bruises, but escaped serious injury.

According to the young hiker, he had consumed between eight and ten pints of beer that evening.

Milton's first United Way campaign and the brand-new addition to the Herigate Inn got an official kick-off last week in facilities donated by the hotel. Cutting a ribbon to officially open the hotel's new restaurant "Original Hickory's" is

Milton United Way

Igniting a busy summer

Summer is going to be anything but lazy and hazy for the people working to organize Milton's first United Way campaign.

That event was given a strong kick-off last week at a Herigate Inn reception serving both the campaign and the official opening of the hotel's $1.5 million expansion.

A united Way campaign for Milton has been identified for several years as a major road block to the development of much needed social services in town.

A task force appointed by the Halton Region social planning council has been working since last fall to lay the foundation of a region-wide campaign but the enthusiasm in Milton for the event was too great to hold back any longer, task force chairman Jarvis Sheridan told members of the Region's health and social services committee recently.

He repeated that message at the reception, stating that United Way campaigns work best when they have a solid base of support in the community.

"A United Way grows from the community up," he said. "It became clear to us very early that this community was ready to go and we are delighted that this effort is underway."

Heading the board of directors of the local campaign is realtor Gus Goutouski, assisted by Nick Gauthier and Harry Funk.

Mr. Goutouski said the actual date for the campaign has not yet been set, but that it would likely be in September or October.

Mr. Goutouski said 20 social service agencies have expressed interest in the campaign. A dollar goal will be set after meetings with other United Way organizations in Oakville and Hamilton.

"We want to set a goal based on realistic figures," Mr. Goutouski said, "and the only way to do that is to go through this exercise."

Support for the local campaign is coming from many sources, including Milton Mayor Gord

Krantz, who is serving on the board of directors along with Isobel Hixon, Joe Servos, Val Caputo, John Stewart, Des Mullin, Lynne Guay, Rev. Jack Birch, Milton Ward 2 Coun. Colin Best and John Marshall.

"This campaign is needed because it will bring all the agencies in this area together so that they can be properly funded to serve local needs," Mr. Krantz said.

"I won't be able to give this as much time as others will, but I certainly wholeheartedly support the idea of a United Way campaign," he added.

While the formation of the local campaign is a positive step, Mr. Krantz said a Halton-wide campaign should still be the goal.

Youth home sets up shop

The new operators of the former Sheridan Youth Home have set up house following a more than three week closure of the observation and detention home for juveniles.

The home, serving Peel and Halton regions, was taken over by Casatta Ltd. June 13 as the previous administrative body, Sheridan Youth Association found it could not function with the funds allotted by the Ministry of Community and Social Services.

The home, which offers temporary placement of up to 30 days to 10 juveniles awaiting permanent placement by the courts, has been named Casatta Youth Centre. The facility utilized by Sheridan Youth Association for the past three years on the property of Halton Centennial Manor accepted its first residents since mid-June on July 1 and by the end of the week, four juveniles had been placed there.

While the doors of the observation and detention home were closed, children were placed in similar facilities located in Hamilton, Kitchener and Oakville.

Diane Kotchendorf of Casatta Ltd. said the operation is now running smoothly following a staff training period during the closure. Casatta Ltd. administers an observation and detention home in Kitchener and a children's receiving home in that area.

CAS to join Halton Region?

A special committee has been formed to study a plan to integrate the Halton Children's Aid Society with Regional government.

Members of the health and social services committee last week approved naming four of their members to the nine-person committee.

The initiative for the establishment of the study group came for the CAS Board of directors which has been struggling for several years with an inadequate budget provided by the provincial government.

In a letter to Regional chairman Jack Raftis, CAS president John Graham said he supported the study to determine what benefits there would be to the agency "and particularly to the children whose needs are the first priority of the organization."

Burlington Coun. Walter Mulkewich supported the idea of establishing the committee, but warned that provincial directives and desires would still have to be considered.

"Regardless of what we do we'll be stuck with the directives of the Ministry on children's services, so we should forget any ideas about doing a Halton only kind of thing," he said.

"I'm not expecting a lot in terms of immediate action, but it's still a worthwhile process to go through," he said.

Oakville Coun. Carol Gooding warned that a simple solution to the problems of providing children's service in Halton likely wouldn't come out of the study.

"I don't think the overly simplistic solution that's underlying this report is necessarily the way to go," she said. "If the answer was that simple it would have been done long ago."

The committee studying the proposal will be composed of five members appointed by the CAS and four named by the region.

Regional representatives will be councillors Ted MacDonald of Burlington, Dave Whiting, of Halton Hills, Brad Clements of Milton and Mr. Raftis.
