

McNabb goes to semi-finals

Omagh By ELLA PATTERSON

Sincere sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Snowden on the death of his aunt, Mrs. Margaret M. House of Toronto. Mrs. House had been beaten and stabbed to death in her home by a guest who was a mental patient.

The annual Steam-Era will be held in Milton on Friday Sept. 3 to Monday, Sept. 6. This event draws thousands of visitors each year which is held at the Milton Fair grounds.

Congratulations to Miss Marilyn McNabb,

Dairy princess for Halton on being chosen Thursday night at the CNE. Marilyn will compete again on Monday evening in the semi-finals. We wish her success.

Rural water mains

Making hookers happy

Rural residents wanting to hook up to Halton's water mains should find the process a little easier in the future.

Members of the Region's planning and public works and administration and finance committees last week approved a policy allowing rural homeowners to connect to water mains running down their roads.

The connections will be allowed only after a contract is signed under which the homeowners agree to disconnect if an amendment to the Halton official plan, which would make the connections legal, is not approved.

The Region's official plan currently doesn't allow connections to the water system outside urban areas. An amendment to change that policy has been approved by Regional council but still has not obtained necessary approval from the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing.

Dennis Perlin, Halton's chief administrative officer, said the new policy would apply only in areas where there are already water mains running down the roads.

"It's simply permissive in an area where a main happens to be running by," he said.

Rural homes allowed these connections will still have to rely on private sewage disposal systems, and that caused some concern for committee members who worried that the increased water usage resulting from the connection would overload the septic system.

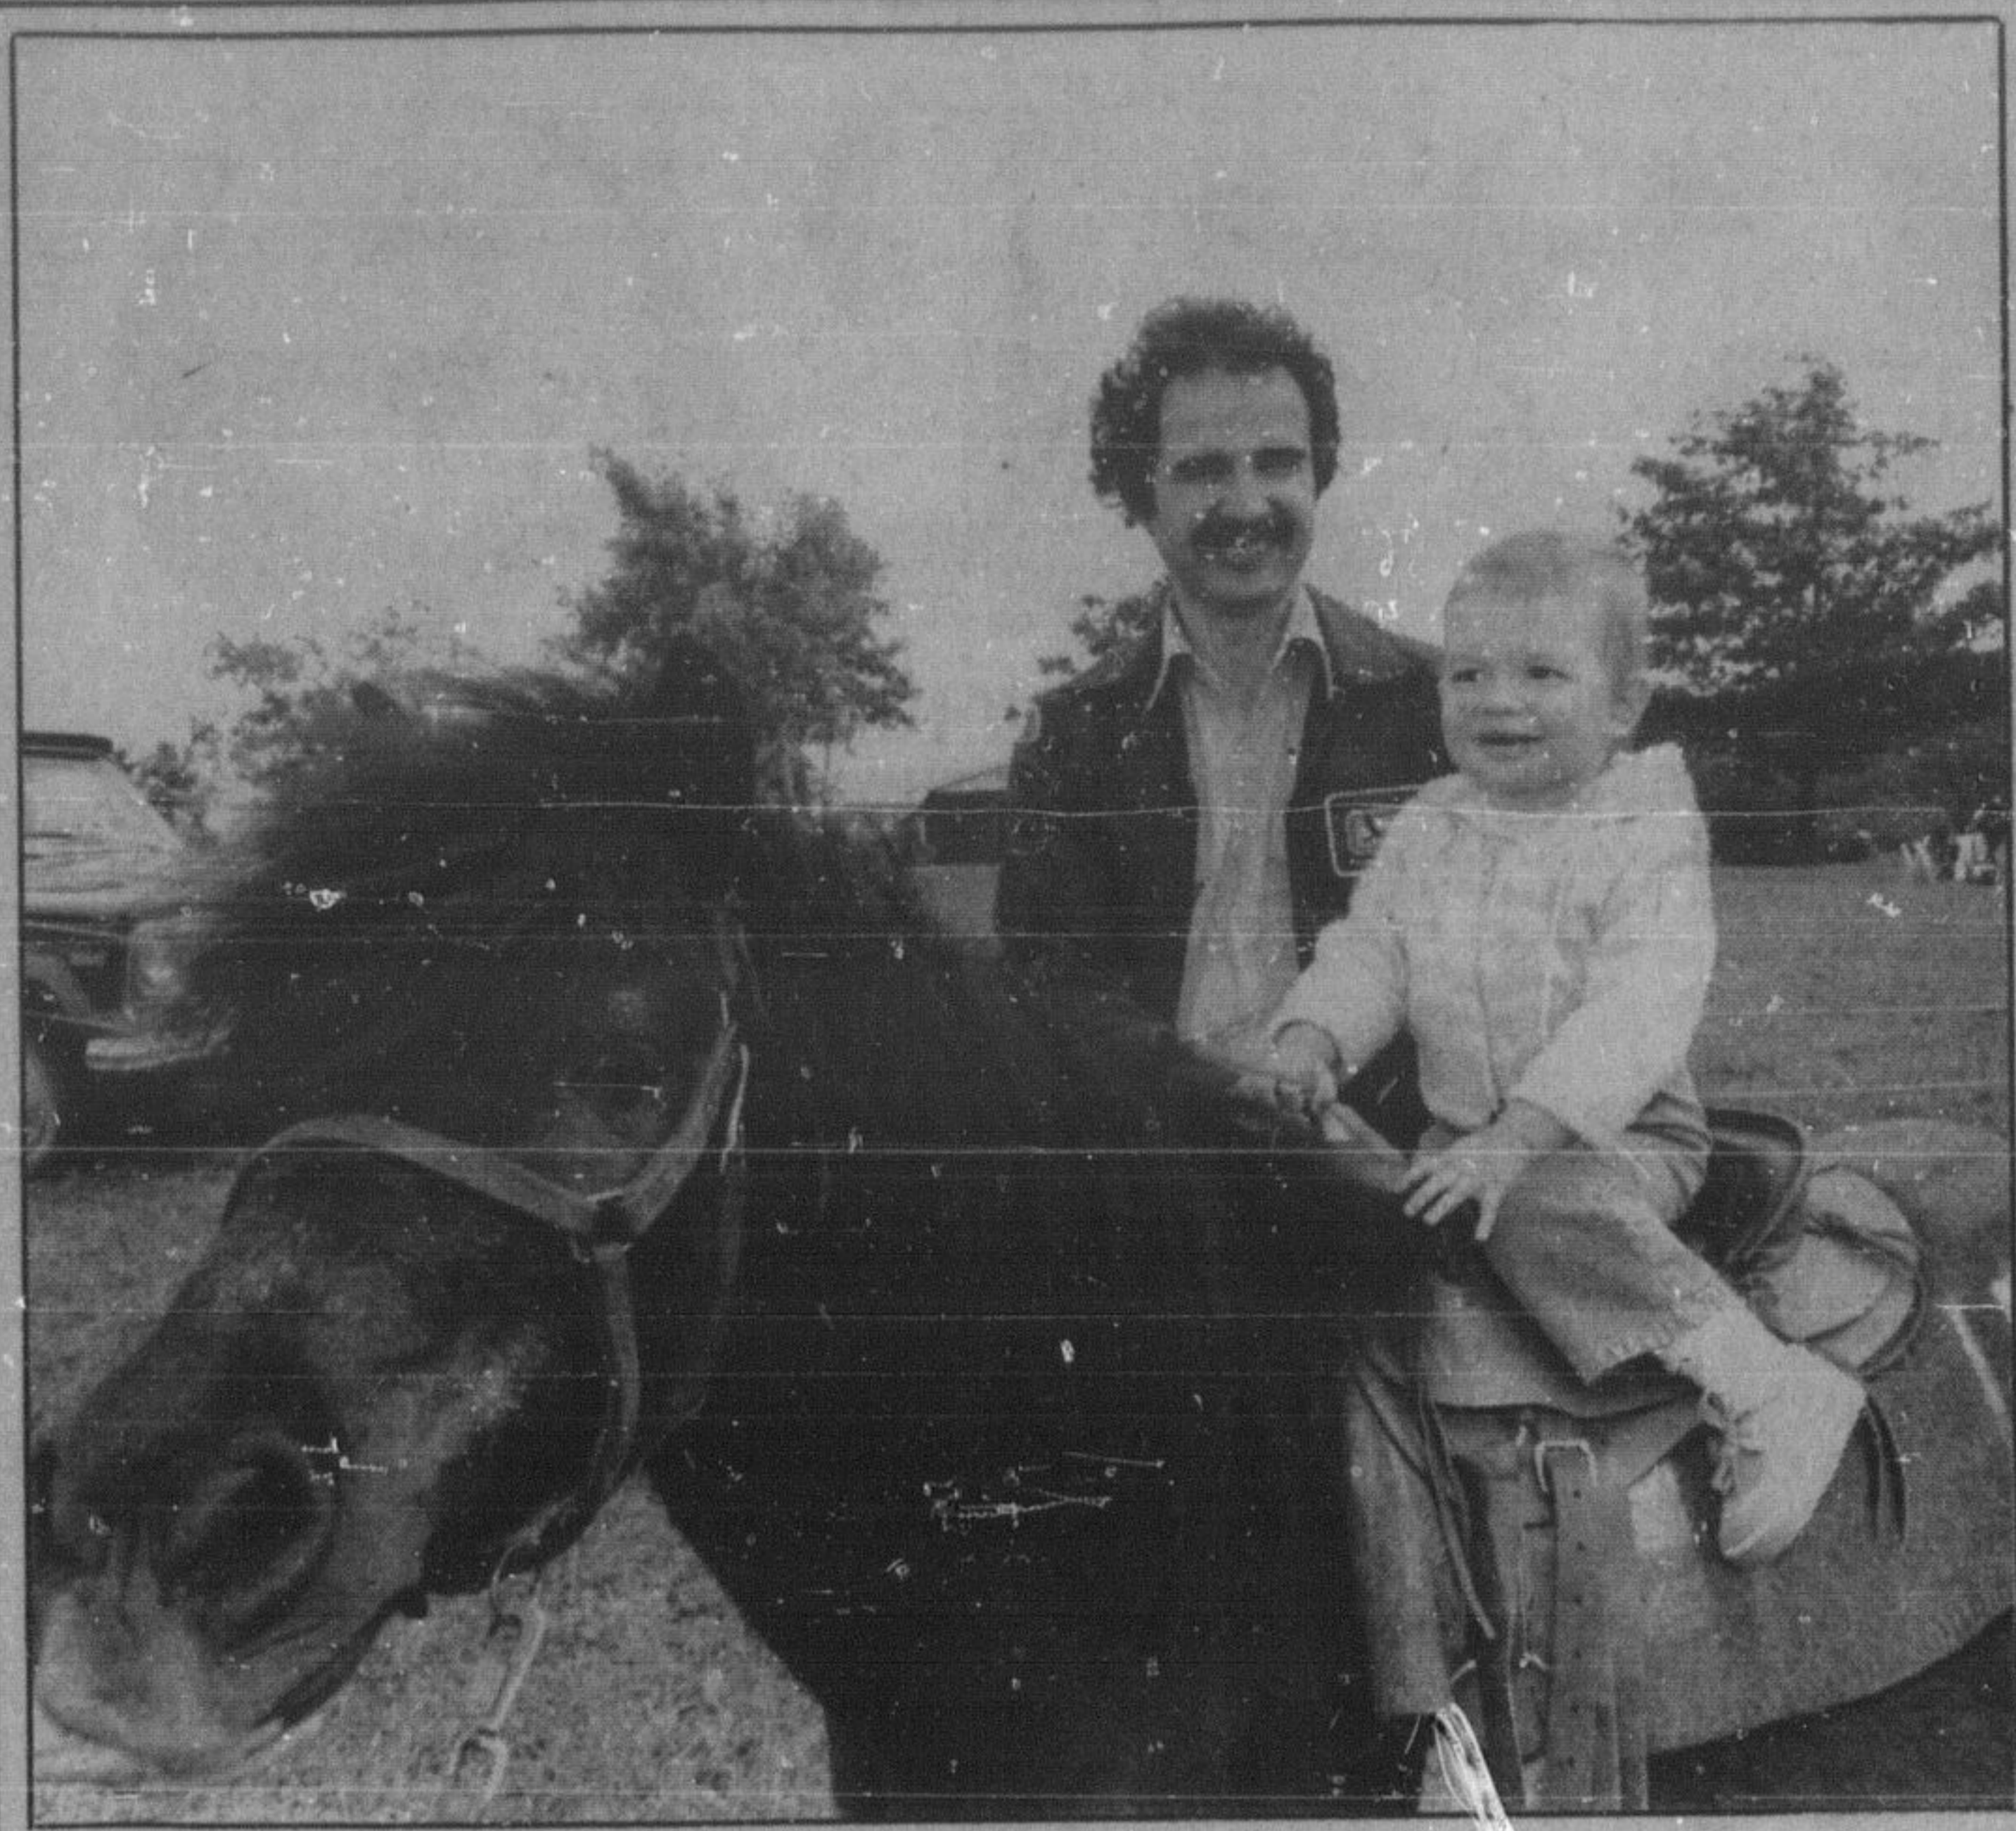

"That is a concern, but it doesn't seem to be a severe problem," commented public health inspector Gerry Sullivan, "because rural people seem to be quite skilled at rationing water."

"I don't think people should be denied municipal water just because their septic system might get into trouble," he added.

Mr. Perlin added that councillors needn't worry about having to extend a sewer system into the countryside if these problems did occur.

The agreements signed with the homeowners would require them to install holding tanks and "take all other necessary actions before we would extend a municipal sewage system out there," he said.

Mr. Sullivan added that new rural residents, unfamiliar with the needs of septic systems, could learn from their neighbors.

Taken for a ride

Carrie Harris was riding high in the saddle this weekend on a Shetland pony led by her father Bob. The pony rides were a feature at Kelso Conservation Area Sunday and were offered for $1 a ride.

Following holidays for the month of August—church worship will be held at Omagh Presbyterian Church on Sunday Sept. 5 at 11 a.m. A hurricane like storm passed through this area on Saturday afternoon, heavy rain and high winds only lasted for about 15 minutes but were very frightening. Trees were the biggest casualties.

The summer holidays are only a memory and it's back to school for teachers and children.

Congratulations and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wrigglesworth of Hornby who will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Sept. 4 with a reception at Hillcrest United Church.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Ruth Brownridge, Mrs. Isobel Downs and Mrs. Amy Merry and Mrs. Ken McDougall, patients in Milton hospital.

Birthday greetings and good wishes to Gordon Rayner, Anne Luke, Mrs. Myrtle McGill.

Congratulations and good wishes to Mr. & Mrs. Clare Ford who were married Sept. 1st, fifty-seven years ago.

Mrs. Frank Cowan is a patient for surgery in Oakville hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery.

FOR THOSE WHO ENJOY

the Dining Experience

For a variety of fine cuisine, Milton offers you "The Dining Experience". Milton has an excellent selection of restaurants which will suit the individual's palate.

Each month we will introduce you to one of our finer restaurants in this special feature.

The Bavarian Inn Restaurant and Tavern, established over five years ago in Milton Mall, offers a delightful mixture of good eating and variety entertainment.

Well known for its German dishes, (specialties include bratwurst, sauerkraut, schnitzel and shaslik) the restaurant also offers Canadian style dishes and seafood.

While lunch crowds usually consist of business clientele, the restaurant caters to family groups and couples for its evening meals.

Providing a relaxed and comfortable atmosphere, The Bavarian features evening entertainment Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Wednesday is local talent night, with guest entertainers from Milton, Georgetown, Acton and Guelph.

"We try to encourage audience participation," explained restaurant manager Jean James, adding the audience is invited to join in sing-a-longs etc.

Thursday night is pub night, making The Bavarian a popular spot for many young people.

Disc jockey Peter Bell spins the discs Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

With seating available for 175 people, The Bavarian also has a private room for club meetings or private parties.

The Bavarian offers a wide range of catering services from small family birthday parties to large, social gatherings, weddings and anniversary celebrations.

The restaurant is the family effort of brothers Ulli and Burkhard Nowak. (Ulli is the chef) and their mother, Mrs. Nowak.

Manager Jean James credits the past success of the restaurant to a "loyal and supportive staff".

"Most have been with us for several years and we are very proud of our staff," she said.

The Bavarian Restaurant is licensed and is open six days a week from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m.

Reservations are not needed, but large parties are invited to call the restaurant in advance at 878-3901.
