Police blotter

Drug store hit again

Drug thieves struck for the third time in less than one month at Guardian Drugs, 497 Laurier Ave. over the weekend.

Halton Regional Police were alerted to the break-in by a passing motorist at approximately 4.09 a.m. Friday who noticed the glass door of the pharmacy was smashed.

Police arrived at the premises and within minutes the alarm sounded. Police believe a malfunction in the alarm system caused a delay in activating it.

Approximately $120 worth of Percodan and Percolcet, codeine based drugs were stolen.

Police have no suspects at this time.

The drug store was entered by thieves Nov.

10 and Nov. 17.

the incident occurred at approximately 5.10
a.m. said Halton Regional Police.
Mr. Few was counting cigarette packages with his back to the door when the man came into the store.

Police said he was wearing a mask over his head and was brandishing a large knife.

The employee was told to hand over all money in the till.

Police said the man was between 5'8" and 5'9" and weighs between 130 and 140 pounds.

Our Readers Write

Not our fault

Dear Sir:

Last week you put a letter, that was not signed in about the "Gas rip off" by the local gas stations in Milton. The prices were right and the survey was done complete, but the basic homework was not.

Our gasoline prices are set by our oil companies not by the stations themselves, therefore we do not control the price of the gasoline. We all are on a very low commission rate as it is and to put our prices down we would be selling it below our cost.

None of these 12 gas stations in Milton are ripping off the public or bleeding the public as this letter stated.

Certainly everybody these days shop around for good prices, we all do,—but to put down a group of Milton service stations, that cannot control their gas prices is unfair.

Yours truly,

Donna Coulter, North End Datsun Ltd., 610 Martin Street, Milton, Ontario.

(Ed. Note: The letter was written by Noel Gibbons, of Milton. His name was omitted by error.)

Support for Audrey

Dear Sir:

I would like to reply to Audrey Steenhof's letter of Dec. 1. You asked Audrey, if your parents values are wrong and outdated. The answer is no. they are not out dated or wrong. I admire them for their courage and perseverance to uphold what is of value.

I have been married for two years to a fine husband. We practise the values your parents have taught you. They are respect, worth, dignity and integrity.

I ask those students who consent to premarital sex if they can respect each other enough to take responsibility for a child if one happens to come along.

The child inside the womb is not a blob of tissue to be evacuated at one's request. We all came from the womb. We all are unique human beings.

What about birth control devices? As a medical person, I know all too well the harm some devices and pills can do.

You people, who consider it nothing but mere protection against pregnancy, are you willing to risk the side effects. What happens if they don't work and the girl does become pregnant?

Contrary to some public opinion, abortion is harmful to the woman's health physically and psychologically. If you don't believe me, start reading some sound material on the subject. I can give you a list of material to read.

Around the world where abortion is available on demand, the health of the woman declines and also future children are affected.

Is trial marriage the up and coming thing? How can one "put on trial" something that is for a life time? Every person changes through their life. What happens when one person wants out and the other person doesn't. It's always "his" or "hers" never "ours". Many fights have precipitated from this type of relationship.

Take some advice from a person who's been there. The only way to truly live in a world where respect for life has diminished, love is just a word you say to anyone, sex is easy and anyone is available, is to truly ask yourself "who am I, what do I want and where am I going. Do I want to satisfy my images and embelish myself in anything that is going or do I really want to love myself first and then love others."

Love is not sex, birth control or abortion. Love is truly giving oneself to another, to tally, selflessly, for the sake of another's welfare.

So Audrey, do not fear because yours was the only hand raised. Your hand spoke for someone who could not, and also spoke about yourself.

I admire your courage! I admire your self respect!
