Juveniles unlucky despite close scores

Close scores and seesaw battles seem to be the order of the day for Milton Home Hardware juveniles as the club has twice come out on the short end of one-goal difference games and once earned a 2-2 tie.

In the club's season opener last Monday at Memorial Arena, Milton held on to a 2-1 lead against Chinguacousy for much of the game but Ching tied the score in the waning minutes. Terry Ellwood and Mike Van Wart scored for Milton with Mike McIlwraith and Steve James picking up assists.

On Tuesday, Milton had a wide percentage of the play but couldn't bridge the gap in suffering a 5-4 loss away to Dundas. Mike Henneberry paced Milton with two goals while Kevin Plater and Ellwood added one apiece. Assists went to Graeme Hicken, Jamie Gillies, James and McIlwraith.

In their third game of the season, Burlington scored two goals in the final three minutes to overturn an apparent loss into a 4-3 victory. Scoring for Milton were Ellwood with two and James with one. Gillies had two assists while Mike McGuire, Mike Stewart and McIlwraith each earned one assist.

GOOD FOR BUSINESS. GOOD FOR CANADA.

Four streamlined job creation programs that help business help Canadian workers.

Many individuals, organizations and businesses have expressed an interest in doing their part to help ease Canada's unemployment problems. These programs are designed to turn this interest into action.

Program Consolidation

Canada's 12 employment programs have been streamlined into four flexible new programs: Canada Works, Career-Access, LEAD, and the Job Corps Program.

Each of these programs has been designed to make it easier for job seekers, and to encourage private sector participation. Each generates long term employment benefits, and helps people now. And all share a focus on Canadian youth.

Canada Works

Canada Works will provide immediate term employment to thousands of laid-off workers, people whose Unemployment Insurance benefits have run out, those who now depend on social assistance, and people who need work badly. Summer jobs for students will also be made available through this program.

Over the next two years, more than $865 million will be spent to employ workers in projects that either add to Canada's productive capacity, or benefit individual communities. Sponsorship from organizations, businesses and individuals is required to make it happen.

Canada Works projects will ordinarily employ three or more workers for up to 52 weeks, and be eligible for federal financial support of up to $325 per worker, per week. Applications for Canada Works projects must be submitted to your local Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office no later than October 28, 1983.

LEAD

The LEAD program provides the tools for communities, (usually those with populations under 50,000), to build their own solutions to their unemployment problems. LEAD involves local residents in the planning, management and ownership of new ventures designed to create employment now, and in the future.

Job Corps

Job Corps is designed to help organizations, businesses, individuals, municipalities and school boards introduce severely employment disadvantaged people to the world of work. A combination of life skills training, and actual job experience in controlled work situations will help ease this group into the labour market. The main focus of the Job Corps Program is youth.

Individuals whose lack of education, job experience, mental, physical or social problems have prevented them from entering the work force will benefit. Over the next two years, Job Corps will provide over $66 million in wages and other program costs.

Career-Access

Career-Access is designed to give the inexperienced, the disabled and the disadvantaged a chance to prove themselves.

The program provides wage subsidies which can be as high as 85% and extend for up to 12 months, to employers who provide the supportive on-the-job learning and experience that these people are looking for. Over the next two years, more than $210 million will be spent on this program.

The main focus of Career-Access is youth. By helping these Canadians increase their skills, the business community can help itself by developing experienced employees for future growth.

The Government of Canada will spend over $1.3 billion on direct job creation programs in 1983-84/84-85. More than 300,000 individuals will benefit from a combination of funding from government, and enterprising ideas from the business community and the non-profit sector.
