

TWO BARN FIRES broke out on Milton area farms in the early hours of Saturday morning. The first call at 2.07 a.m. took firefighters to the Third Line Halton Hills farm of Bruce McClure, south of 10 Sideroad, where they were able to contain the flames and save the barn from destruction. However they weren't as fortunate on the second call at 3.40 a.m.—a large barn at the Dr. R. J. Pinkney farm on Appleby Line at Britannia Rd. was "gone when we arrived", spokesmen said. Dr. Pinkney lost some lumber, a tractor and mower in the fire. Both photos are of the Pinkney fire.

Milton under Andress' wing

Staff Inspector Ray Andress, Halton Regional Police, District One, has Milton under his wing again. As of January 13 Milton joins Georgetown as part of District One. It is important to note this is the former town of Milton and Nassagaweya Township is not included. "This is just a case of Milton being under my supervision again," Andress explained. Mr. Andress served as the chief of Milton Police for 14 years prior to the formation of the Halton Regional Police. He began his career as a law enforcement officer in July, 1953. Mr. Andress has been head of the Georgetown Detachment since 1974. A target date has been set of September 1975 for the District One department to take over the rest of Halton Hills. At present the regional police operate in only Georgetown and Milton in north Halton. Mr. Andress said it would take time and a gradual takeover is anticipated for Nassagaweya.

Break and enter, goods recovered

International Cooperaage, Main Street, was broken into last Sunday and six items were stolen and later recovered. Included in the haul were two calculators, a camera and some tools.

Last Saturday there was an attempt made to break into a Main Street service station. A police investigation showed there had been an attempt to gain entrance into the building but it failed.

There was a drug arrest made in Milton last week but police are withholding the details.

There were seven cases of theft last week all of items valued at less than $200.

Among the items stolen were a tape deck from a car parked at P. L. Robertson, the battery, spare tire, and anti freeze from trunk, three pairs of blue jeans from a laundromat, another car battery, and a girl's bicycle.

In addition a Campbellville resident was arrested after trying to leave Loblaw's with $5.76 worth of groceries and police are investigating the theft of $9 from a Globe and Mail newspaper box.

A Glen Williams man was arrested last week for being drunk at the Milton Plaza.
