

MONDAY'S WINDS toppled a 60 foot pine tree across hydro wires, snapped a pole and narrowly missed the house on Campbell Ave. near the E.C. Drury School. A heavy gust of wind snapped the tree about five feet from the ground and it fell away from the Dills' home. In pulling the wires to the ground it snapped a pole and bent two others as well as loosening a transformer at the end of the street. Hydro and town workmen removed the tree and restored power to the street. A bicycle on the lawn remained undamaged although it was missed by inches by the falling tree. There were no cars in the driveway at the time.

CANADA CORD, the highest honor in Guiding was presented last week to Phyllis Freeman of 1st Campbellville Guides, by District Commissioner Mrs. M. Baynton. Phyllis, 14, is the first Campbellville girl to receive the honor.

SEE CHANGES
The World Health Organization says experimental evidence indicates that animals exposed to tobacco smoke have been found to develop changes similar to those found in patients with severe bronchitis; and that dogs regularly exposed to cigarette smoke developed progressive damage to the lungs by both bronchitis and emphysema. A total of 53,660 cases of bronchitis and emphysema were treated in Canadian hospitals in 1972, warns your Christmas Seal organization, the Halton Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

'Business as usual' at Campbellville PO

Although larger post offices across Canada are still closed by the 23-day-old postal workers' strike, it's "business as usual" at the village post office in Campbellville, reports Postmaster Doug Agnew. He and one part time assistant and three rural mail carriers are still working every day, processing local mail. "The rural carriers are out every day, and they cover a total of 101 miles of roads," he said. Any mail destined for Campbellville addresses will still go through, the postmaster reports. "We're still operating, although a lot of people don't seem to know it," he said. The village office is open 9 to 5:45 Monday to Friday and 9 to 1 on Saturdays. Ironically, Mr. Agnew is one of 8,000 Canadian postmasters and assistants who are members of a postmasters' group which is still operating, despite the lack of a current contract. "Our last contract expired Oct. 5, we could go out any time we wanted to," he said. Rural post offices in Hornby, Kilbride, Palermo and Moffat are also remaining in operation throughout the strike.

LEADING KILLER

Statistics indicate that over 17,500 Canadians die yearly of lung diseases, placing respiratory diseases third along with lung cancer and behind heart disease and stroke as the leading disease killers in Canada. Christmas Seal dollars fight these lung cripples.

Halton appearing to favor price, wage controls - MP

The response to price and wage controls from Halton is generally favorable, according to Halton MP Dr. Frank Philbrook. "People are saying yes, they want the government to do something about inflation; yes, they like the decisive sort of leadership they're getting. The concern expressed to me from many people is that the government must stay tough and avoid allowing exceptions to the plan. "They keep saying be tough make it work. I haven't heard from organized labor yet, but many people who are rank and file union members are supporting it and say they'll give it their best shot," he said.

Condemned
In a survey conducted a couple of weeks ago by this newspaper, union officials condemned the anti-inflationary measures and said the scheme was designed as an all-out attack on organized labor rather than an attack on inflation.

Police beat

Thieves with a sweet tooth are believed responsible for a break-in and theft at a Hornby business last week. Police said 33 pounds of honey was stolen from a local apiary. Another theft involved a man who took a 1974 model car out for a test drive at one of the local dealerships. He must still be testing it—neither the car nor the driver has been seen since. Bikes missing
Police also reported two bikes stolen from school parking lots, a sum of money stolen from a purse, $21 missing from the till of a local store, a citizens band radio stolen from another store display, two charges of petty trespass, two cases of malicious damage to vehicles, and three attempted break-ins. Police laid impaired driving charges against two men, and investigated two cases of petty trespass, three of possessing liquor in a place other than the residence and two of persons being intoxicated in a public place.

Dr. Philbrook said the plight of teachers and doctors had presented special problems. Professional people charging for services on a fee basis also present special problems. "Do you apply it to the fee or to the annual income, or both? There are still a lot of details to be worked out at the federal level," he admitted. Contacted prior to the rejection of the latest wage offer the government made to striking postal workers, Dr. Philbrook had said that last minute negotiations were going on in an effort to bring the strike to an end.

Long term solution
He pointed out negotiators were shooting to solve differences on a long term basis rather than simply bring an end to this particular strike. Since then postal workers have rejected what the government says is their final offer at $1.70 per hour increase over a 30 month contract. The Halton MP said activity on the Hill was at its highest peak since Halton voters sent him there more than one year ago. While government officials continue to promote the war on inflation, the house also dealt with a new housing policy last week and legislation dealing with law and order is expected to come up in the near future.
