

ROBERT BALDWIN School held an old-fashioned Christmas concert Friday morning for the parents. Grade four children in Bev Bishop's room presented the Christmas story. Wise men were Ronnie McRae, Chris Vanelli and John McLean.

LEFT WAITING at the door at Robert Baldwin School was a red sled and a coat, hat and mitts. The young owner was inside enjoying the old-fashioned Christmas concert presented to the parents and younger brothers and sisters of the students. (Champion photos by Joyce Beaton)

WHILE SHEPHERDS WATCHED their flocks they also watched for their cues in the Christmas story done by grade four students at Robert Baldwin School Friday morning. Waiting in the wings are Nigel Hopper, Anthony Korcalanic and David Rosenboom.

ANGELS AND SHEPHERDS were part of the traditional Christmas story presented by grade four pupils at Robert Baldwin School Friday morning. The angels were played by Pauline McCalmont, Jackie Hewitt, Pam Sealy and Penny Wells. The Shepherds were Nigel Hopper, Anthony Korcalanic and David Rosenboom.

—Make it a new year's resolution to use Champion classifieds more often. They work fast and they're inexpensive too.

—There are some colorful Christmas cards again this year. Several versions of UNICEF cards have been noticed.
