

STOCKING UP was an easy task for Lisa Lacroix, she had a map of the store, had studied it for a week and knew right where to go for the items she wanted most. But after the spree ended she exclaimed, "oh, I forgot to grab a squeeze mop."

HOW MUCH COULD YOU "BUY" in five minutes if you won a shopping spree at your favorite supermarket, absolutely free? Miss Lisa Lacroix of West Oakville, a 25-year-old articling student at a lawyer's office, found out last week such a trip is worth close to $500 after she won the draw for five minutes of free shopping sponsored by the Milton and District Kinsmen Club. She managed to pile up $490.30 worth of groceries, including close to $200 worth of meat, in the five allotted minutes. Above, she stocks up on the meat, then roars down a grocery aisle at the Loblaws store in Milton Mall as Kin president Barry Henderson times her spree.

Those who got skis, toboggans and snowmobiles for Christmas found lots of snow for trying them out.

12 BAGS FULL—that's what she took home. Winner Lisa Lacroix is pictured heading home with her loot, assisted by Loblaws' manager Barry Parker, Kinsmen Doug Brown and Barry Henderson. Lisa scooped up filets, 20 pounds of coffee, 24 tins of salmon and lobster, chocolates, tea, deodorant, aspirins, soups and dog foods, plus a roast and a turkey she planned to donate to the Kinette club to help a needy family at Christmas. "I'm tired, I've got cramps in my legs," she said when it ended.

A grand shopping spree

THE CASH REGISTER SHOWS THE FINAL RESULT OF LISA's shopping spree—a grand total of $490.30. The Kinsmen had placed a $500 limit on her five minute spree and she came pretty close to the limit. Some of the shopping was for her dog "Jasper", a miniature schnauzer.
