EDUCATIONAL RENEWAL through
 "PARENT POWER" in PUBLIC SCHOOLING!

- For a public school system that serves rather than tyrannizes the "consumer" - the Parents who entrust their children to it and the Taxpayer who pays for it and
- For educational policy which is the expression of "The wisdom of loving parenthood", rather than "The folly of subversive, self-serving special interests"; and
- For a "sane and satisfying new day in public schooling", successfully completing "The Canadian Revolution" in public schooling "from DEFERENCE to DEFIANCE" - the 23 year old Renaissance crusade for Parent Power in public schooling reflected in the "Back-to-Basics" initiatives of the Harris-Johnson "Common Sense Revolution" - launched in a rally for renewal which packed the Milton District High School auditorium, March 28, 1974;)
- For a strong, civilized, socially-sensitive voice for "Parent Power" in public schooling and representing Milton's leadership of educational renewal;

Children's entertainer Doug Barr will likely have the younger set dancing in the aisles at the Oakville Centre. Mr. Barr hails from Milton.

Fun children's entertainer coming to Oakville Centre

Milton native and established family entertainer Doug Barr will perform at the Oakville Centre Sunday, Oct. 26.

The singer and songwriter of children's music has recorded more than 60 original songs on four albums since 1985.

He has appeared on CBC's 'Mr. Dressup' and his music has been included in children's radio programming across Canada and the United States.

The performer's first national television special, 'Musical, Magical Day' debuted in 1992.

His upcoming Oakville performance will begin at 1:30 p.m. with simple finger plays and call-response lyrics to introduce his humorous persona to children early in the show, said Carolyn Melia of the Oakville Centre, 130 Navy St.

"Before long children find themselves standing, sitting and standing again as they try to keep up to the raucous skeletal assembly directions of 'D'em Dry Bones' and Doug's ever popular 'Dinosaur Comp'," she said.

Tickets cost $12.49. The box office is open Monday to Friday from noon to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. and can be reached by calling 815-2021.
