The Canadian Champion, Friday, November 28, 1997 — 19

Give generously to The Champion's Christmas Bureau Fund

Served with hot garlic loaf and your choice of soup or salad.

Rib Eye Steak 8 oz. served with penne primav-

Oriental Stir Fry Pasta with stir fried veggies and julienned chicken. All tossed in a mandarin

Chicken Lasagna Layers of pasta stuffed with vegetables and chicken in a cream sauce. $10.78

Pasta Sampler Chicken on three pastas with a sampling of al dante tomato, alfredo and rose

Complement your meal with: Peller Estates Chardonnay or Cabernet .....$3.76 Baileys with your coffee .....$3.79 Rum n' Eggnog Cheesecake .....

TAKE-OUT BRICK OVEN PIZZA

Thin crust 12" pizza with herb tomato sauce and cheese Three Cheese Pizza Mozzarella, Asiago and Parmesan. Easy Street Pepperoni, green peppers and onions ...... Garden Patch Green peppers, onions, mushrooms, broccoli and tomato . Spike & Sport, A Broad & A Stove Double cheese and pepperoni. . . . Spike's Panzerotti Baked panzerotti stuffed with tomato sauce, cheese & pepperoni. . Philly Steak Bulls Eye Sirloin, Bulls Eye sauce, green peppers, onions and three cheese. $8.97 Chicken Coop Bulls Eye Chicken, Bulls Eye sauce, green peppers, onions and tomato. $9.97 Spike's Kitchen Sink Pepperoni, ham, bacon, onions, green peppers, tomatoes & mushrooms. $11.25 Big Bertha A huge pizza for sharing, with sauce and cheese. Add on items at $1.91 each. .$11.97

BRICK OVEN BUFFALO WINGS

With your favourite sauce, B.B.Q., Hot, Bulls Eye, Mandarin Moon, honey Garlic, Spike's Sauce.

Snack. . .$4.23 . Regular. .$7.97 Large. .$14.73 . Tailgater.$19.97 Spike Size(50).$34.79

BRICK OVEN RIBLETS

Served with fries; choose your favourite sauce Regular (6) .....$9.47 Large (9) .....$13.47

Eat at BELAMYS ... Party at Spike's

575 ONTARIO ST. 876-1186

Regulations the killer: owner

from BIG on page 8

ing about $10,000 in upgrades for underground tank spill protection, he explained. Government regulations on stepped-up environmental safety measures should have been accompanied by tax relief, he added.

"The regulations have made it difficult to stay in business. It's the last straw for a lot of guys who are just barely hanging on." Wholesale prices to retailers have been slowly creeping up, according to Mr. Dunstall. But competition between stacompanies, stops a retailer from raising his price to a level where he can make a reasonable profit.

In the 1980s standard profits were about six to seven cents a liter. At five cents most stations can break even. However, the spread between current wholesale prices and retail prices provides less than three cents on a liter.

In addition, operators used to get some money from the oil company for the use of the pumps, typically half a cent a liter. Mr. Dunstall said that practice is all but gone.

The loss of the Husky station means much more than simply one less consumer choice for gasoline. The closure of the station ripples through the community.

Mr. Dunstall sponsored sports teams, he sold Nevada tickets to support a nursery school, he provided tourist information under an arrangement with the Milton tions, most of which are owned by the oil Chamber of Commerce, and he employed eight people.

Mr. Dunstall said he had a meeting with David Tsubouchi, Ontario Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations, who is investigating franchise regulation.

While he hasn't heard back from the minister he is hopeful some action will stem from that office.

New councillor ready to go

• from MALBOEUF on page 14

"The issue is the kind of growth and how fast. There are people who don't want this town to go to 40,000 people," he noted.

The Quebec native said amalgamation only serves to reduce costs. An increase in population widens the municipal tax base, which helps to keep costs down, he added.

Mr. Malboeuf said without the need for a pipeline municipal council can make better deals with developers to build with reduced densities. Conversely, if developers are required to pay for a pipeline they will recoup those costs through a denser development pattern, he warned.

Mr. Malboeuf acknowledged developers would try to maximize their investments and agreed it would be an uphill battle to get lower density development.

However, he said, with a pipeline in place, lower density development was sure not to happen.

Mr. Malboeuf acknowledged he is not up to speed on every issue but generally his approach is one of fiscal restraint.

He explained, "When it comes to spending we have to ask: Do we need it? If we need it, can we do it cheaper? And then, how do we pay for it?"

Mr. Malboeuf said he would like to see improvements in emergency services, including police and fire departments. At the same time he is set against any tax increase and opposes the growth of user

"It's getting to the point where the only people who can use our leisure facilities are the well off," he said.

Mr. Malboeuf said he will work hard not to be swayed by the political system nor get caught up in process. He plans to assess his involvement on a term by term basis "until the job is done."

In addition he said he will reintroduce the idea of scaling back council numbers during his term.

"I'm concerned with the direction the town is going in," he said. "We've got to keep that country atmosphere."

DECEMBER is

We'll be holding events [fundraising] efforts to help those with neuromuscular disorders today while we search for tomorrow's cure. Please, call donate. Because until there's a cure, there's us.

