The mayor breaks tie

Town council's two new standing committees have their chairs and vice-chairs in place.

Councillors decided any ties in voting at the committee level should be broken by a vote of the entire council, where the mayor, as council's 11th member, would be eligible to cast a ballot.

At Monday's meeting of municipal council, Brian Penman was elected vice-chair of the administration and planning committee in a 6-5 vote.

Mayor Gord Krantz was forced to choose between Mr. Penman and rookie also remembers how congenial many Perth area residents were in the time of crisis.

He recalled, "Farmers brought us coffee and sandwiches and one woman even brought a chainsaw and helped us pull down a few trees.

"It really humbles you in a way, to see these people dealing with their problems and helping each other out."

The Milton Hydro employees themselves became victims of old man winter, getting stuck in a ditch thanks to poor visibility and heavy snow drifts.

While Perth and surrounding areas now have power, Mr. Beaton said it will probably be weeks before eastern Ontario and Quebec enjoy full hydro restoration.

"There'll be a lot of work to do this spring and summer," added Mr. Holdridge. Milton Hydro as a whole supplied two generators to Brockville and 25 new poles to Nepean.

principle of the thing. How can we ask people to take less services when we won't even cut our own numbers?"

Mr. Malboeuf said he expects a fight on this issue at council. He said he has prepared himself against all the reasons which might be advanced for maintaining the status quo. He also said all councillors who sought election were on record as standing in favour of a reduction in the numbers of councillors.
