Oakville incidents shake lady drivers

Halton Regional Police are hunting a man who, in two separate incidents, attempted to gain access to cars driven by lone women in Oakville.

The first occurrence took place at 5:30 p.m. on February 10 at Old Mill and Cornwall Roads while the second occurred at 9:30 p.m. February 20 at Old Abbey Lane and Nottinghill Gate.

In both cases, a male tried to get into the front passenger seat but the women accelerated and caused him to fall from the car.

The description of the suspect is similar and detectives feel the same suspect is responsible.

He is described as a white male in his early twenties, of average height, with a slim build and brown hair. He was wearing a black leather bomber jacket, blue jeans, white crew neck t-shirt, black boots and a black baseball cap.

Anyone with information should call detectives at 825-4747 ext. 2315.

Police remind women traveling alone to take steps to ensure their safety, such as locking doors and reporting any suspicious persons.

Photo book will fund renovations

Few landscape features offer as much drama as the Niagara Escarpment in southern Ontario, and some of that will be captured on film for a good cause.

The Milton, Oakville and Burlington chapters of Canada Trust's Friends of the Environment Foundation will be helping the Halton Region Conservation Foundation publish a photography book.

The foundation is seeking additional corporate sponsors to help fund the project. Proceeds from the book will be used to renovate and expand the visitor's centre at Mountsberg Wildlife Centre. More information on the book project is available at 336-1158.
