Thirteen-year-old charged with sex assault on woman

A 13-year-old Milton male has been arrested in connection with a sexual assault on a woman walking along a Derry Road path Saturday.

Halton Regional Police say a youth jumped out from behind the bushes and attempted to fondle the victim's breasts at 6:15 p.m.

The 26-year-old woman pushed the attacker away, ran to safety and called police, said Acting Det. Sgt. Mark Martin.

A youth was later arrested at his home and charged with sexual assault as part of an ongoing police investigation.

The probe into similar attacks on women on Bronte Street at Laurier Avenue is continuing, and further charges could be laid, police said.

Two women were recently sexually assaulted in the same fashion while walking along a pathway, except the attacker was riding a bicycle.

Drug dealer gets two years for selling heroin to teens

A Halton Hills drug dealer caught selling heroin to Milton high school students was sentenced to two years in jail.

Judge Douglas Latimer handed down the prison term to Alison Manzer, 21, in Ontario Court (provincial division) in Burlington Wednesday.

The sentence was reportedly relatively light because Manzer was selling the drug to support her own addiction and she's now undergoing treatment.

The young mother of a three-year-old child was seen selling heroin — considered a highly addictive substance — to 15 Milton high school students last fall. The youths, aged 14 to 18 years, weren't charged but Halton Regional Police contacted parents.

Manzer was charged with 18 counts of possession of a narcotic and trafficking.

Court has heard an undercover police officer made numerous purchases from Manzer and eventually met her supplier for a buy on November 7, when the pair were arrested.

The arrest followed a five-week investigation resulting from an initial call by an astute local parent who was conscious about what his teenager was doing.

It's believed the heroin was being used through traditional means of injections.

Judge Latimer convicted Manzer of breaching a probation order (related to a theft charge) and two counts of trafficking for drug sales in October and November. The other charges were withdrawn.

Correction

A sports story in Friday's Champion incorrectly identified Jamie Krane's phone number — which local residents can call to make donations to the Milton Skateboard Park fund — as 878-2955.

The number is actually 876-2955.

The Champion apologizes for the error and any associated inconvenience.
