Goodbye Pegasus — sad to see you go

Dear Editor:

It is with extreme disappointment that I have found out that Pegasus, a bus line, is being shut down.

Pegasus is the only bus line that connects Georgetown to Acton to Milton to Oakville to Burlington and back. Does the public realize how much of a negative impact this will have on all our communities? Why was this done without consultation of the public?

As a computer high school teacher in Milton, I have seen many adult and teenaged students use the bus line to get to school.

Many seniors feel safer using Pegasus because there are seat belts in the bus along with wheelchair access. The bus stops right at Milton Mall and Allendale, allowing convenience for seniors. I, myself, was able to accept a teaching contract at General Brock High School during the summer because Pegasus could get me

Everyone is invited

Dear Editor:

The congregation of Grace Anglican Church invites everyone to join in on the 24-hour Prayer Vigil from 6 p.m. Friday, July 24 to 6 p.m. Saturday, July 25.

We will remember those Milton pioneers who sacrificed and built the first Anglican church here in 1851.

Milton's founding family, the Martin family, donated the land and were involved in the religious activities of the young town. Also, we will remember and thank those who in 1895 taught us the meaning of 'sacrificial giving' when they built the current stone church on the hill on Main Street. In those days, $6,000 was a lot of money and it took a huge pioneering spirit to commit to such a large project.

The goals of the vigil include the strengthening of relationships between individuals within the church and the community and to develop a sense of unity regarding our corporate responsibilities.

The vigil isn't a fundraising event.

We invite everyone to join us at the church for prayer or to remember the pioneers in their prayers on that weekend. We have shift changes every hour on the hour and ask visitors to enter through the parking lot door.

from Milton to Oakville to Burlington and then back home.

Come September, many Sheridan College students from our community will not be able to have a safe, dependable bus line to the Oakville school.

Also, many adult students will not be able to attend classes with the Halton District Catholic School Board at Hwy. 5 and Trafalgar Road.

If my mother lived in Milton in a wheelchair, I would have felt very comfortable knowing that she could lead an independent dignified life, being able to take the Pegasus bus to shop for the day at Oakville

Place along with some of her friends (without anybody's help).

If council had consulted the public first (possibly a referendum) maybe the communities involved would not mind paying the extra tax dollars for this worthwhile service.

I think more people should speak out on this matter. Our communities should be able to make the decision to cut Pegasus or not. Do we want to maintain the quality of life in our communities versus cutting and slashing this service?
