Has anyone seen these missing saws?

Two businesses in Georgetown were hit by a thief just two days apart in March. Detectives think the same person might have been involved in both cases. At 5 p.m., Sunday, Mar. 14, the front door was forced at G. Cooper Equipment on Armstrong Avenue. Once inside, the suspect quickly scooped up a variety of saws and other power tools, and escaped before police could respond. At 9:30 p.m., Tuesday, Mar. 16, the same thing happened at Adam's Georgetown Rental on Guelph Street. This time, only chainsaws and concrete saws were taken.

In all, more than $13,000 worth of tools were stolen. The most common brand name was Stihl, but brands such as Husky and Makita were taken as well. Crime Stoppers wants to know who has a variety of saws for sale. If you can provide a name, give us a call.
