Schools recognized for good earth work

Two Milton schools are being recognized for their commitment to the environment.

Percy Merry and St. Peter's were to receive Blue Planet '99 awards Monday (April 19) as a kickoff to Earth Week.

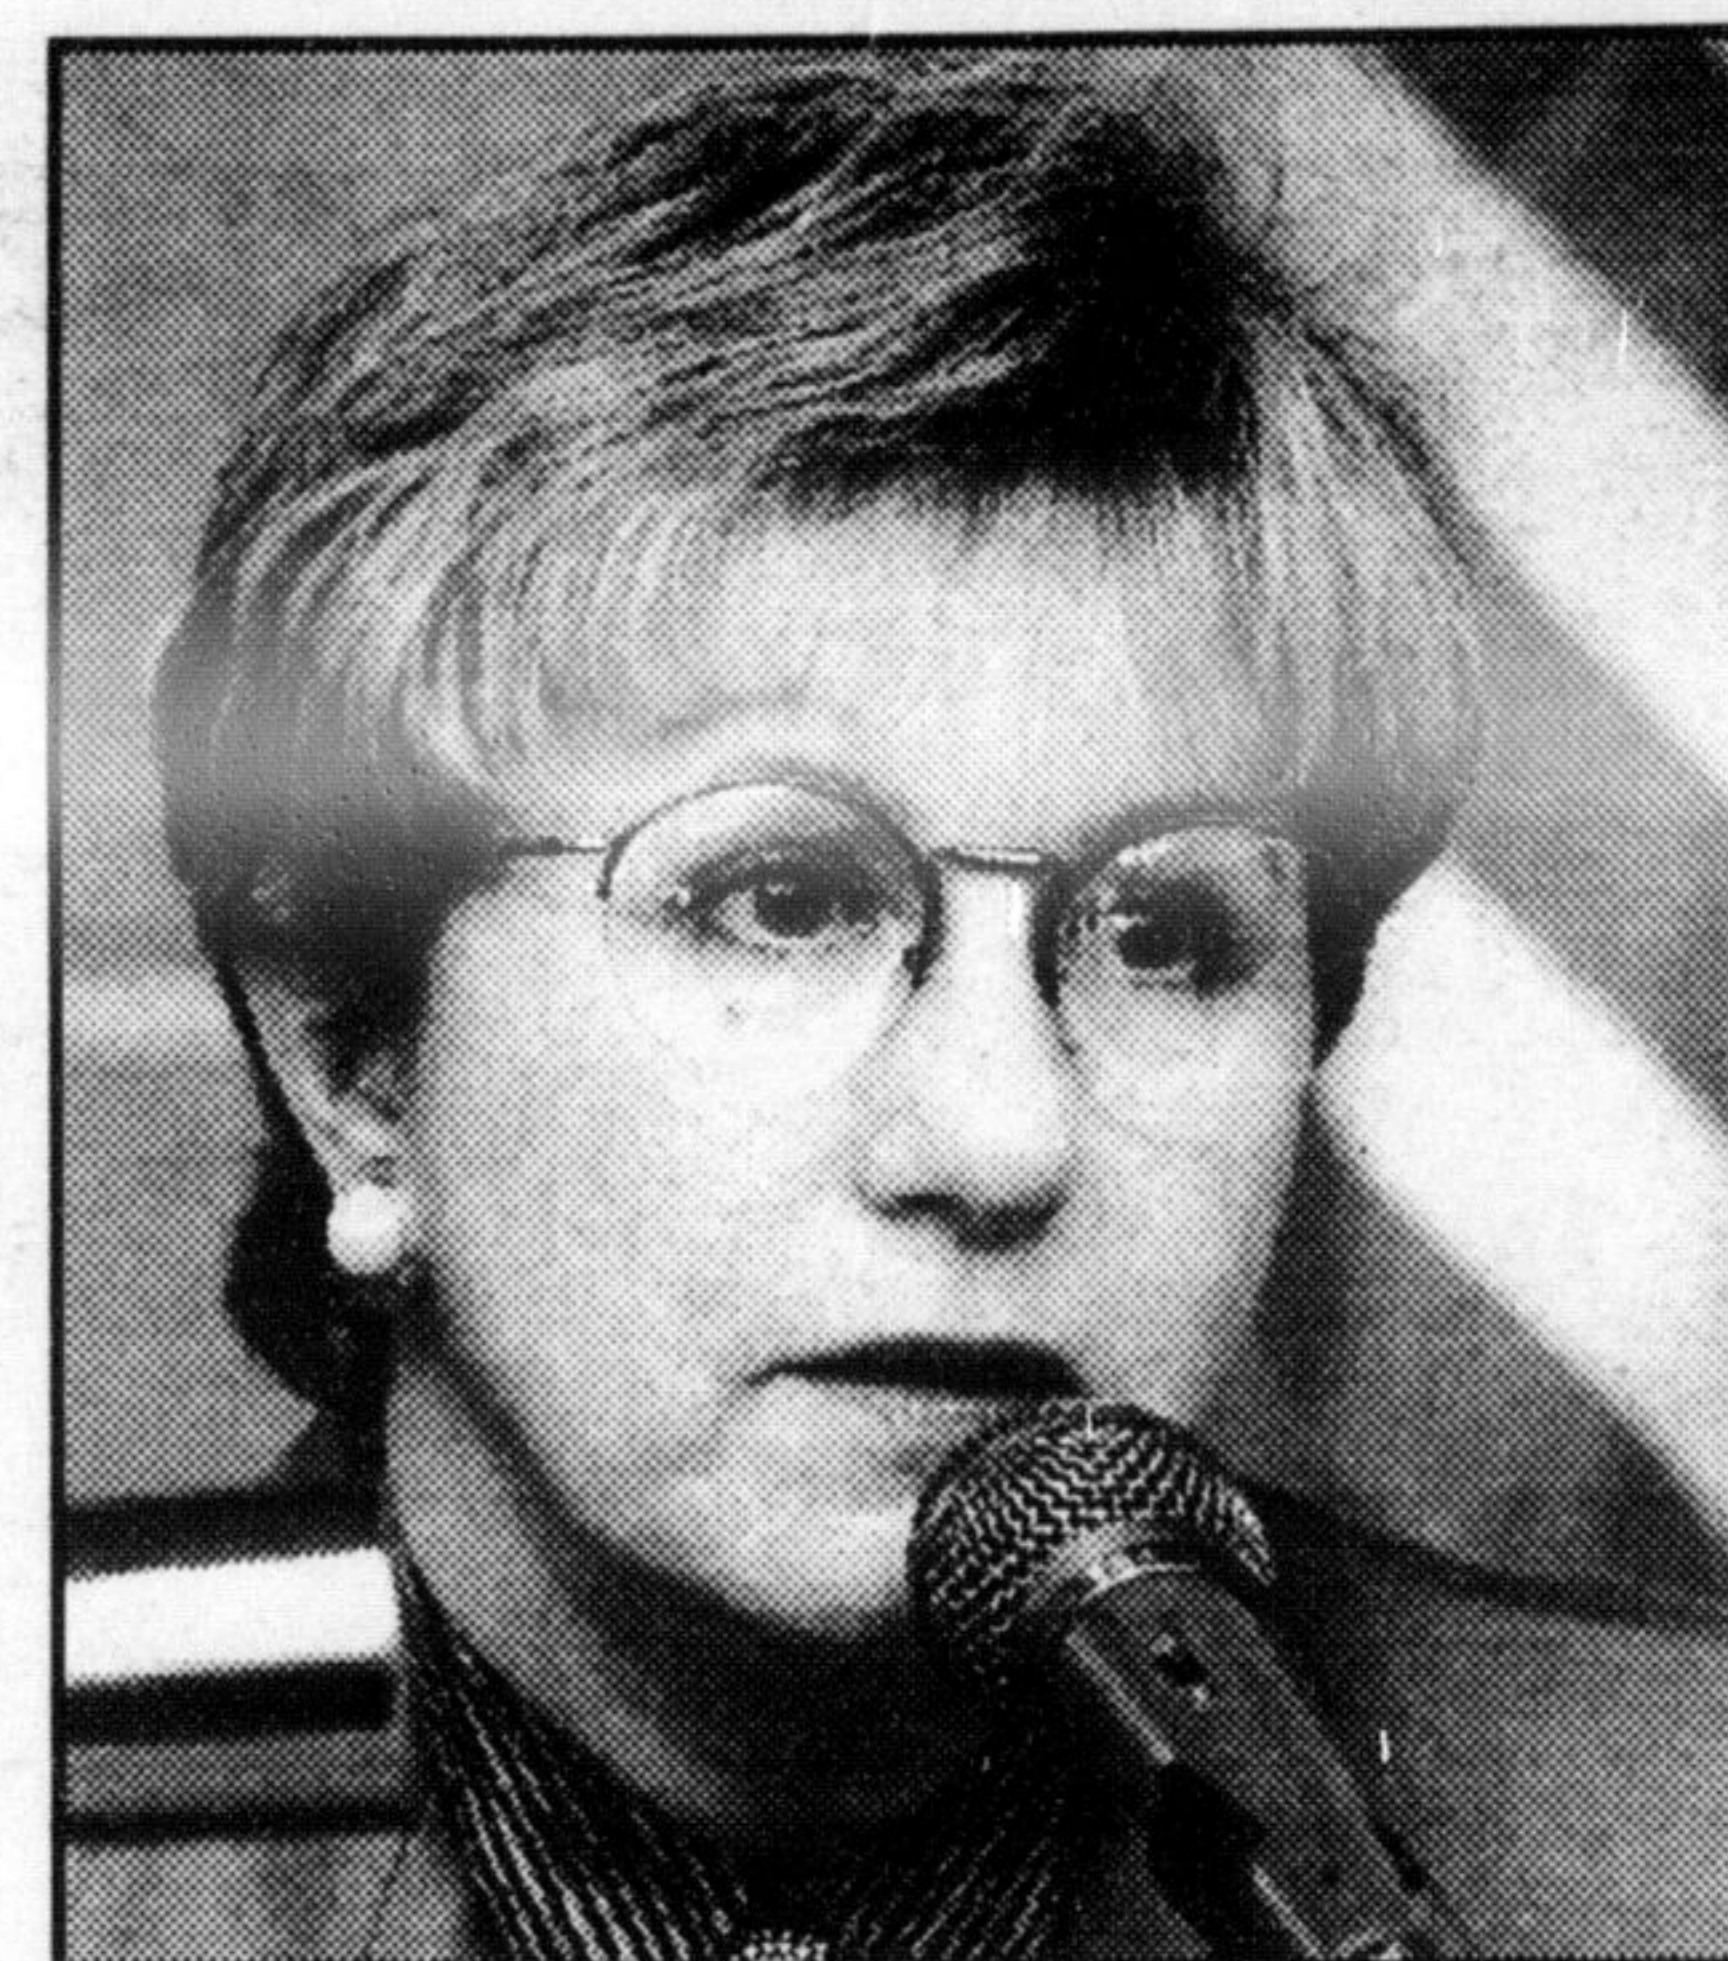

They were to be honoured by World Wildlife Fund Canada and Halton Region during a ceremony at the Ontario Place Cinesphere in Toronto.

Percy Merry students recently began a widespread composting program, have made a number of renovations around the school in order to conserve energy and continue to maintain an indoor garden.

Other initiatives include aggressive recycling and an adopt a whale effort by the grade twos and threes.

Meanwhile, St. Peter's continues to be involved with the SEEDS Learners in Action support program — and has reached Earth status by completing 1,000 environment related projects.

The school's efforts over the years have included litter-less lunches, worm composting, tree and flower planting, active recycling and financial contributions to environmental protection groups through various fund-raisers.

Savoline wants to hit polls

By IRENE GENTLE

The Champion

There are an awful lot of doors in Halton Region.

That's something Joyce Savoline is expecting to learn in her campaign to become Halton's first publicly elected regional chair.

Since Halton Region was created in 1974, the chair has been appointed through a vote of regional councillors.

Ms Savoline, who came to the job in 1994, has been hoping to change that to a vote of the people.

That's the way she was used to working when she served as a Burlington councillor for 12 years.

Then, she saw herself as an extension of the people she represented.

"It was great. What makes the job worthwhile is how all of us work together to make this a good place to live," said Ms Savoline.

She made those feelings known when she was re-appointed as regional chair in
