Members of Halton Regional Police's tactical and rescue team Wednesday conducted a second search of the area where a Toronto man's body was found shot to death in December.

Police looked to turn up clues in the murder case of 32-year-old Sean Anderson of Toronto Wednesday in conducting a foot search at the site where his body was discovered.

Halton Regional Police's tactical and rescue team and canine unit searched the Trafalgar and Derry Road area to ensure they didn't miss anything after finding Mr. Anderson shot to death in December.

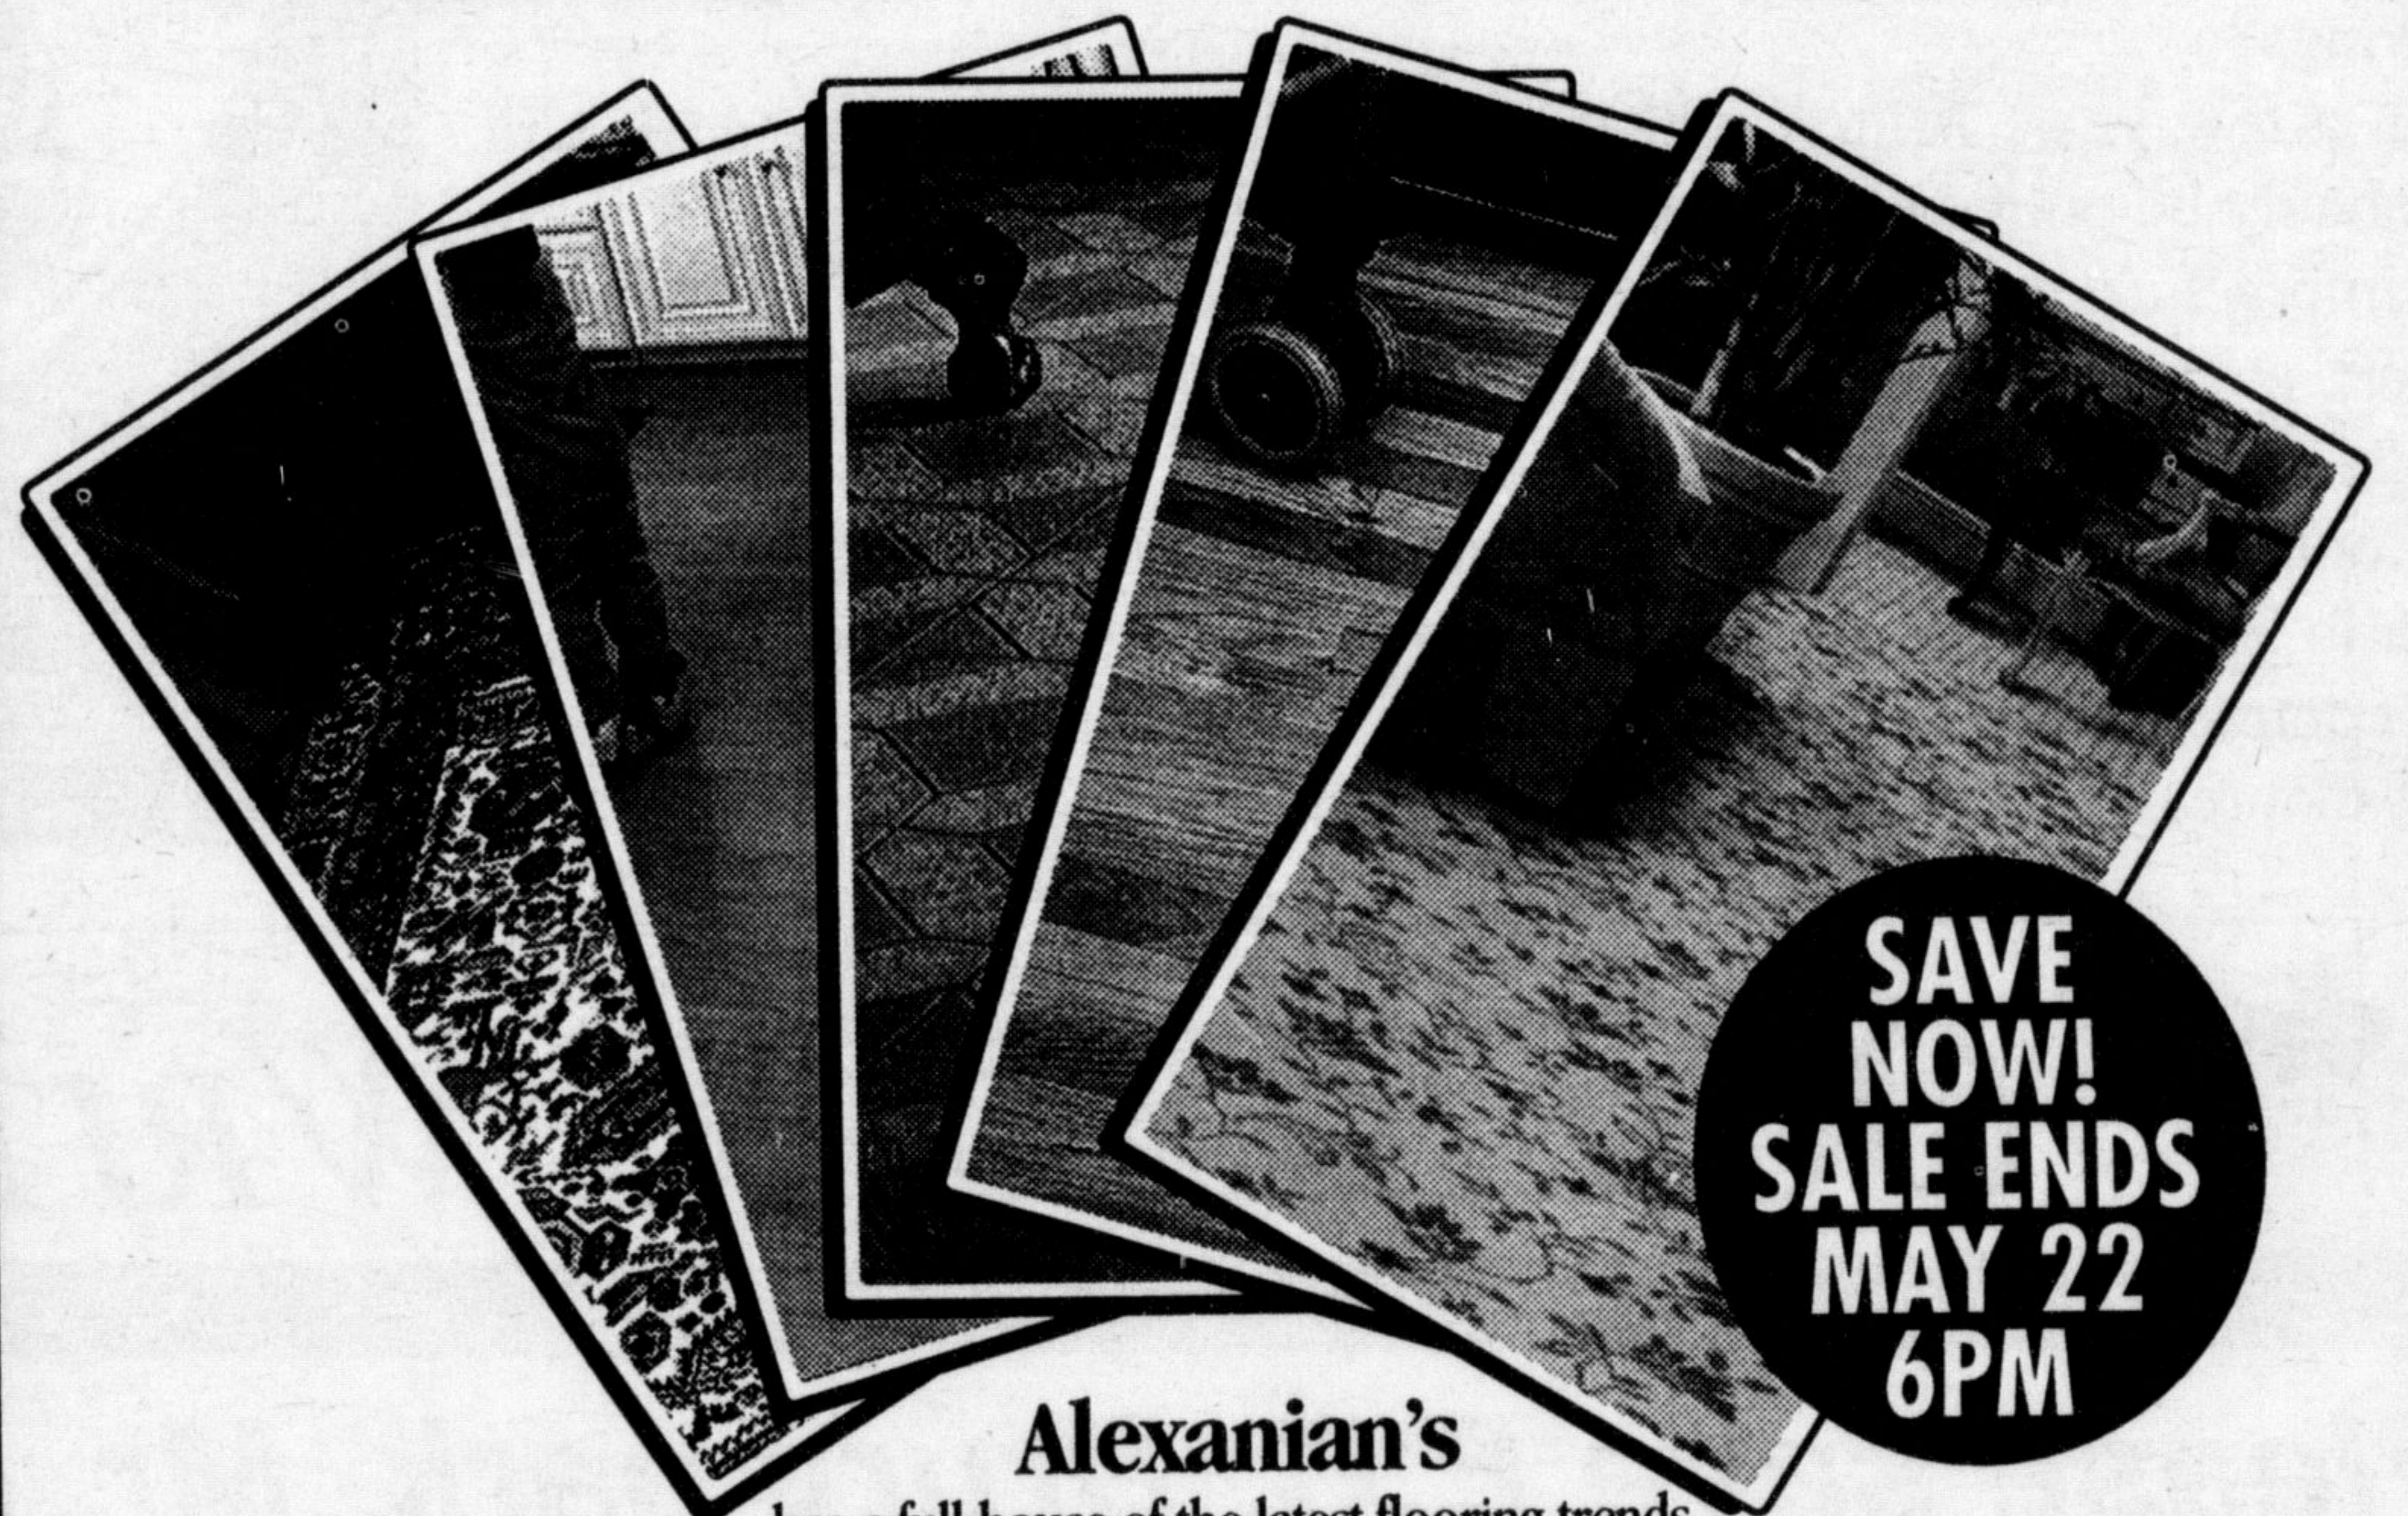

Detective Walter Bucci of the major crime bureau said prior to the ground search that officers would be looking for specific articles, such as items belonging to Mr. Anderson.

About 15 officers took part in the two-hour search. The result of the search wasn't available at press time.

Last seen at 6:30 p.m. December 4 in the Etobicoke area where he lived and worked, Mr. Anderson died of a gunshot wound to the head. His body was found in a field.

Mr. Anderson was known to frequent the area of Niagara Falls to visit friends and attend local restaurants and night clubs. Police are appealing to the public for information relating to the murder. Anyone who can help is asked to call 825-4777, ext. 5140, or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-9477.
