New CEO sought for hospital corporation

Restructuring Projects Office, and will be involved in issues related to hospital restructuring, capital planning and funding.

Sandra Farley, chair of the HHS board, says Mr. Oliver has much to contribute at the provincial level of administration.

"The board feels that with John in the Ministry's office, we will really have activity in this area, which will really be beneficial to all hospitals in Ontario," she said. "With him in there for 12 months, we have every confidence that we will see results."

Mr. Oliver said he is particularly interested in working in the area of hospital funding formulas, in an attempt to make them clearer and more rational.

"It's a challenge and an opportunity," said Mr. Oliver, who was recruited for the position by the Deputy Minister of Health.

"It will give me a chance to see how the Ministry works and bring some of that knowledge back to the hospital."

Ms Farley said the recruitment of Mr. Oliver is really a testament to his skills and commitment.

"I think this is a compliment to John Oliver because of his exceptional abilities," she said. "I also think it's a compliment to our organization."

The HHS board of directors have started to search for a seasoned CEO to bring in on an interim basis during Mr. Oliver's absence. The secondment runs from May 31, 1999 to June 1, 2000.

Could be financial jungle

new growth in areas where infrastructure — including roads — can't support it, said Mr. Murphy.

Though he backed the plan, Burlington Councillor John Taylor accused staff of being eager to shorten the time frame of growth without fully understanding its long-term financial impacts.

"There is a compression in the time frame so that various phases of HUSP will be competing against themselves," he said. "We're going to get ourselves into a financial jungle."

Staff can't be expected to come up with a solid financial plan when individual municipalities have not decided how growth will proceed in their areas, said Oakville Councillor Kathy Graham. "We have not decided how the community north of Highway 5 will be developed."

Calcium... you never Outgrow the need

Your body always needs calcium. The body cannot produce this vital mineral itself, so it's up to you to eat adequate amounts of calcium-rich foods everyday. Eat lots of dairy products, sardines, broccoli, almonds, legumes and salmon. They taste great and give you what your body needs.
