Important Infant Safety Hazard Notice

Zellers has learned of a potential safety hazard with a Cherokee brand infant pram suit (or "bunting bag"). The item is a fleece garment made of a textured berber fabric, is oatmeal in colour and trimmed in green, navy or red. There is embroidery on the left chest of pine trees and flowers. The label says Cherokee. It sold for $44.99

A toggle/button on the item can be easily removed. An infant may put the toggle/button in his or her mouth and can accidentally choke.

The item was sold primarily through the Zellers Cherokee store on Yonge Street in Toronto. Some were also sold in Zellers stores in the Greater Toronto area and Peterborough. You can return it to any Zellers store for a full refund.

Ladies hockey club ends tournament on high note

The local ladies hockey team didn't quite make it into the play-off round at the season ending Brampton Canadettes Tournament.

However, Milton would eventual find its way into the win column — capping a less than stellar round robin campaign on a high note Sunday.

Tania Burton's crafty cage work and a couple of timely tallies helped them trim Minnesota 2-0 in their final game of the weekend — and season.

Krista Lecky, Milton's top gunner all year as well as at the tournament, deposited an unassisted wraparound to put the locals ahead in the opening frame.

Then Aimee Kilbourn would bury her own rebound in the middle stanza for a little insurance. Assisting on goal number two was Carm Augustyn.

"Tania was just terrific in net. She's one of these goalies who's either on or she's not, and today she was definitely on," said Kilbourn Sunday afternoon. "Our coach also made some lineup changes that worked out well."

Unfortunately, Burton's solid work between the pipes wouldn't be enough to lead them to victory in games one and two — as a lack of offensive production resulted in 3-1 and 3-2 losses to Brampton and Kingston respectively.

Remarkd Kilbourn, "We were pretty terrible in the first game, and actually didn't have it together for game two either."

Lecky had all three goals in the first couple of games, with assists registered by Julie Boonstra and Karen Brown. Kingston scored the winning goal with under five minutes remaining, capitalizing on a blatant defensive miscue.

Martial artists shine

The Fighting Griffin Martial Arts school recently performed well at both the Ontario Open Karate Tournament in Hamilton and the Upstate Open Karate Championship in Rochester, New York.

Hanko Angus back in top form

In 1998, Hanko Angus became the rags to riches story on the Ontario Jockey Club circuit, going from a $20,000 claimer to winning Canada's most prestigious trotting race — the Maple Leaf Classic.

After a minor slump and the addition of another class trotter (Wild Turkey) to the Zeron Stable, the owners of Hanko Angus decided a change was needed.

Well, after going 0 for 17 when departing Zeron's stable, the owners bit the bullet and decided to return Hanko to Zeron.

On April 13, the six-year-old gelding by A Worthy Lad was in to go at Mohawk Raceway.

Entered into a high condition event, Zeron put the winner of $770,000 lifetime on the lead and never looked back, winning by two lengths in 1:56.

"Let's just say Hanko was glad to be back home," said a smiling Zeron.

"I was also glad to get him back. He means a lot to me."

Hanko Angus rewarded his supporters with an $8.30 win pay off.

In the $45,000 Free For All Trot it was Zeron and Wild Turkey racing to a Canadian season's best and new lifetime mark of 1:54.4 in defeating Ramas Pleasure and Goodtimes.

It was the second straight victory at the Campbellville racetrack for the five-year-old gelding by Van Gogh.

The 2000 Horsemen's Trot Final champ has now won five times this year — good for $165,000 in earnings.

Owned by Zeron, John Donato, Brent Craigle and Jack Sawatzky, Wild Turkey paid $4.30 to win.
