Mammacheck on Wednesday

Breast cancer is one of the leading killers of Canadian women.

But early detection can go a long way toward saving lives.

To help, Halton Healthcare Services will host a breast self-examination workshop called 'Mammacheck' Wednesday from 1:30 to 3 p.m. It will take place at Upstairs at Loblaws (Loblaws, second level) on Nipissing Road.

The upcoming workshop will help women recognize the properties of normal breast tissue and perform both visual and manual self-examinations.

The event is free, but register ahead by calling 337-4379. For more information on breast cancer, call 634-2333.
