

Classic car show returns to downtown core tonight

A large crowd is expected to come out for tonight's Classic Car Show in the downtown core.

Record numbers of car buffs attended last year to take a cruise down memory lane, with people travelling in from as far afield as New York and Montreal for the event.

About 200 classic cars can enter the show this

The show ends with a gift draw. Prizes and gifts have been donated by downtown businesses.

The show began as a fundraiser for North Halton Community Living in order to purchase a wheel chair van and since has grown.

The event will kick off at 6 p.m.

A PAINFUL LESSON ON PERSPECTIVE

About ten years ago, I was a youth Pastor in a church. On Friday night we were having a pool party at the home of one of our young people when I had an experience that has stayed with me ever since.

There was a young lady who decided to start a splash war with me and I being the kind of person I am decided to play along and after several splashes the young lady exited the pool via a railing. As she was doing so I attempted to get in one last splash by kicking some water at her. Unfortunately, I kicked the railing instead and broke the little toe on my right foot.

I went immediately to the hospital where I had to wait for 45 minutes just to get inside. Several persons, who came after me, were looked at before me. I waited for another 30 minutes before I heard an announcement that there was a multi car pile up on the highway and that several ambulances would be coming to the hospital. I thought, oh great, I'll be here forever, don't these people realize that my toe is broken.

Within 15 minutes the first ambulance arrived. I saw the man on the stretcher. The attendants wheeled him to the room next to mine. As the medical personnel began to work on him, he began to scream and yell. Later I found out that he had suffered broken ribs in the accident and he was in shock.

The next stretcher came in and went rushing by and I do not know what had happened but no more than 5 minutes later a family came into the room extremely upset and concerned about the person on the second stretcher.

The person on the second stretcher was pronounced dead within 30 minutes and I sat and watched as the Dr. tried to comfort the grieving family.

The accident had been a 5-car pile up, which has resulted in 2 deaths with several others hurt, 3 of which came to the hospital where I was.

At this point, the Holy Spirit convicted my heart, over my anger and frustration considering how truly small my medical situation was when I considered that people were dying.

It was a real lesson on perspective. I had a simple broken toe; these people were fighting for their lives.

My friends there is a real principle here for Christians: how much time so we spend on issues that really are not that significant and how much time were we spend on the things that last forever. How many of us would be willing to admit that we have had some small issue with a friend, a church, or a family member and we have lost sight of the thousands of people around us who are dying without Jesus.

Remember the old poem that says so accurately,

Only one life, twill soon be past

Only what's done for Christ will last

Putting things in their proper perspective is a key to successful living. Start this week by attending one of the churches listed below.
