A towering task

Workmen put the finishing touches on the 40-metre tall water tower, located at Steeles Avenue and Hwy. 401.

Listeners needed

Think you're a good listener?

If so, the opportunity to help others is waiting through the United Way-funded Oakville Distress Centre — which has been serving the south Halton community for 25 years.

Volunteers handle calls — totalling 8,000 annually — that in terms of content range from loneliness and relationship problems to crisis and suicide. Training courses are provided and the only pre-requisites needed are patience, good listening skills, commitment and compassion.

Those interested in volunteering are asked to call the centre at 849-4541.

Connect with local business

Get your message directly to more than 157,000 decision-makers for only pennies per business!

Business Times publications are the ideal way to reach the local business market. With a combined monthly circulation of over 157,000, we reach company owners, presidents and other key decision makers. This includes the local Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade members. Indeed, getting to the right people is critical...so is getting their attention.

The Business Times attracts readers - your potential customers.

The Business Times offers an attractive, dynamic design. And we write about what matters most to business people. Our insightful lineup of columnists, business profiles and local news stories attracts readers - potential customers who may benefit from your product or service.
